

America's Battle Cry: Lines and Lies

In sharp contrast to Genghis Khan's frank battle cry -- Morindoo (Mount Up), America prepares for battle with sheer lies.

By Soraya Sepahpour-Ulrich

Global Research, August 28, 2013

Region: USA

Theme: History, US NATO War Agenda

'The absence of evidence is not evidence of absence' – Donald Rumsfeld

Historians consider the Mongol raids and invasions as some of the deadliest conflicts in human history. Their legacy of savagery and bloodshed preceded them; their orgy of violence and destruction left its ugly imprints in the collective memory of peoples everywhere. So much so that until recently simple folk in some corners of the world would cower unruly children with the threat of an impending 'Mongol arrival'. Today, the loathing and dread formerly associated with the Mongols has been transferred to America. In sharp contrast to Genghis Khan's frank battle cry — Morindoo (Mount Up), America prepares for battle with sheer lies.

In the 21st century alone, Washington has rolled out a heavy arsenal of lies, misinformation, and dubious intelligence to sell war to the American people – and abroad. On September 13, 2001, while the country was digesting 9/11, JINSA (Jewish Institute for National Security Affairs) already had a statement/plan ready for Washington. Their policy called for America to be involved in disputes far and wide for the unforeseen future not only in Afghanistan and Iraq, but also in countries such as Iran, Pakistan, Syria, Sudan, the Palestinian Authority, Libya, Algeria and eventually Saudi Arabia and Egypt'.^[i] Washington heeded.

In the fall of 2001, the Rendon Group was given a contract to handle PR aspects of the U.S. military strike in Afghanistan. One year later, in September 2002, a 'meticulously planned strategy to persuade the public, the Congress and the allies of the need to confront the threat from Saddam Hussein' was devised^[ii]. As part of this strategy, an interagency 'Iraq Public Diplomacy group' comprising of NSC, CIA, Pentagon, State and USAID staffers was created. This group produced documentary and press releases showing interviews with Iraqi exiles and dissidents, chief among them the Iraqi National Council (INC) — a 1992 project of the Rendon Group with Ahmad Chalabi at its head.

Simultaneous with interviews, the public mind was lulled into submission by being shown pictures of the smoking Twin Towers and victims of Saddam Hossein's chemical attacks (weapons supplied by the United States and with Washington's full knowledge to use against Iranians) with the goal of convincing the public that Saddam Hossein's non-existent WMD was an imminent threat. The public was convinced. America launched on its campaign of 'shock and awe' from the stolen nation of Diego Garcia where the natives of the Island had been expelled from their homes after which "officials ordered their pets to be exterminated. They were gassed with exhaust fumes from American military vehicles" ^[iii].

Soaking in a bloody orgy of destruction in Iraq, Washington was preparing the next battle front – Syria (in addition to Iran and the other aforementioned countries). In almost exact replica of the Iraq lies, plans were put into motion to remove Assad and neutralize Syria with help from the “opposition” (HERE). Among those who cooperated with Washington and allies, the Syria National Council (SNC) gained prominence. Not surprising given the support of their political heavyweights. SNC’s most senior spokesperson, Bassma Kodmani who worked for the Ford Foundation[1] in Cairo in 2005, took up a new post as executive director of the Arab Reform Initiative (ARI) initiated by the powerful Council on Foreign Relations (CFR). Thereon, Kodmani attended Bilderberg conferences (see more HERE). This time the PR firm for the “opposition” was the powerful Lynton Crosby which lobbied on their behalf.

Barely a decade has passed since the spin masters lies led to an illegal, immoral, and costly war against Iraq as once again they are bombarding us with propaganda and lies – wanting us to believe that the Assad government used chemical weapon and Syrians must be rescued with our bombs. Even though revelations have been made that such a false flag operation had been in the making, and that the United States backed the plan to use chemical weapons and blame it on Assad, and as skepticism is being voiced in every corner (HERE), Washington is planning a “humanitarian” war.

Given the appointment of the interventionist Samantha Power to the United Nations, and her awareness of the Mongol legacy, makes this move inevitable. Citing Hitler, Power wrote:

“It was knowingly and lightheartedly that Genghis Khan sent thousands of women and children to their death. History sees in him only the founder of a state... The aim of war is not to reach definite lines but to annihilate the enemy physically”. (Power, 2002[iv])

Perhaps she, along with other Washington decision makers, is looking at history in the same fashion as Washington prepares to move onto the next target – a target that will entangle America in a global conflict.

In April 2013, the powerful BRICS nations drew their red line on Syria and Iran. Iran recently drew its own red line on Syria. These are the red lines Washington should heed instead of caving in to the lobbies’ war cries if it is to avoid conflict – a conflict which will bring an abrupt end to the declining empire.

Soraya Sepahpour-Ulrich is an independent researcher and writer with a focus on U.S. foreign policy and the role of lobby groups in influencing US foreign policy

Notes

[1]Ford Foundation was a conduit for CIA funds during the Cold War according to Frances Stonor Saunders (The Cultural Cold War: the CIA and the World of Arts and Letters. New York: New Press 2000) and seemingly, it continues to play a prominent role in post Cold War activities.

[i] Richard Bonney, False Prophets: The ‘Clash of Civilizations’ and the Global War on Terror, Peter Lang 2008; “This Goes Beyond Bin Laden,” JINSA press release, September 13, 2001.

[ii] Sheldon Rampton and John Stauber, "Weapons of Mass Deception: the uses of propaganda in Bush's war on Iraq." Penguin, 2003

[iii] http://www.pressaction.com/news/weblog/full_article/jackowski08012004

[iv] Power, Samantha. "A Problem From Hell; America and the Age of Genocide". Perennial, 2002. pp23

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Soraya Sepahpour-Ulrich, Global Research, 2013

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: [Soraya
Sepahpour-Ulrich](#)

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca