

Amnesty Warns NATO: 1999 Bombing of Radio and Television of Serbia (RTS) is a war crime

By Global Research

Global Research, April 25, 2009

Blic 25 April 2009

Theme: Crimes against Humanity

In-depth Report: THE BALKANS

✖ London – Amnesty International called on NATO yesterday to investigate cases of violation of international humanitarian law in bombing of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in 1999.

NATO is also called on to allow the responsibility for violation of human rights to be determined in a court trial and to pay compensation to families of the victims.

In the AI statement it is said that even after 10 years since the NATO air strike on the Radio and Television of Serbia (RTS) nobody faced the justice for serious violation of the humanitarian rights committed by the NATO.

The AI expert for the Balkans, S. Jones, says that “bombing of the Serbian state television was a planned attack on a civilian target’ and that ‘as such it is a war crime”.

During the air strike on RTS on April 23, 1999, 16 people were killed and 16 were injured.

In the NATO bombing campaign against FRY from March to June 1999, about 500 civilians were killed and 900 wounded.

The original source of this article is Blic

Copyright © Global Research, Blic, 2009

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Global Research

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long as the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca