

Assassination TIME: Sr. Journalist ‘Can’t Wait’ to Justify Drone Strike That Will Kill Assange

By Global Research News

Global Research, August 18, 2013

RT

Theme: Law and Justice, Media Disinformation, Police State & Civil Rights

The unethical and legally questionable statement made by TIME magazine’s senior national correspondent has been met with a barrage of criticism. Although Michael Grunwald deleted the comment and apologized, WikiLeaks is still pushing for his resignation.

The scandal was sparked by a Twitter post on Grunwald’s account which stated that he is eager to write an article on Julian Assange’s execution by a drone.

WikiLeaks tweeted that they have sent a letter to the publication demanding Grunwald’s resignation. They have said that the magazine must show that journalists calling for the murder of other journalists is “never acceptable.”

We have written to TIME magazine to ask for Michael Grunwald’s resignation <https://t.co/X8Rf3TN5MY>

— WikiLeaks (@wikileaks) August 18, 2013

.@TIME must show that journalists calling for the murder of other journalists, or, indeed, anybody, is never acceptable. @TheTinaBeast

— WikiLeaks (@wikileaks) August 18, 2013

The tweet, which has been deleted by the author, said, “I can’t wait to write a defense of the drone strike that takes out Julian Assange.”

Don’t worry, @MikeGrunwald, deleter of history, your support for the assassination of #Assange has been archived: <http://t.co/Wek5dquJ0j>

— WikiLeaks (@wikileaks) August 18, 2013

@MikeGrunwald I am informed you tweeted to the world, that you cant wait to defend the extra judicial murder of my son Julian #Assange.

— Christine Assange
(@AssangeC) August 18, 2013

Following the post, Twitter exploded with harsh criticism of both Grunwald and TIME magazine.

@wikileaks @TIME This should, at the very least, disqualify @MikeGrunwald from writing about Wikileaks for Time.

— Julian Gonzalez
(@julianjg) August 18, 2013

@wikileaks @TIME Isn't TIME magazine part of the problem and not the solution. Perhaps sensible people should boycott them and not buy.

— peter yallouros
(@peteryallouros) August 18, 2013

Although Grunwald responded to the criticism by saying that the original post was a “dumb tweet” and deleting it, TIME has so far not offered any comment on the employee’s statement.

Fair point. I’ll delete. @rober1236jua my main problem with this is it gives Assange supporters a nice safe persecution complex to hide in

— Michael Grunwald (@MikeGrunwald) August 17, 2013

It was a dumb tweet. I’m sorry. I deserve the backlash. (Maybe not the anti-Semitic stuff but otherwise I asked for it.)

— Michael Grunwald (@MikeGrunwald) August 18, 2013

The original source of this article is RT
Copyright © Global Research News, RT, 2013

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Global Research
News

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca