Biden's more than one-hour speech in Congress without obvious mental crack-downs was completely out of line with Biden's regular and quickly worsening health condition. Biden's ability to perform for more than one hour in Congress can only have been due to a special and extremely hard cocktail of drugs and stimulants.

The effects from the special hard drug-mix Biden must have gotten for his 7 March 2024 State of the Union speech in Congress have worn off.

Probably even worse: Biden in the aftermath of his extra big drug-dose 7 March 2024 may well suffer from the hang-over effects of hard drugs - symptoms like fatigue, mental depression, and increased disorientation or even fits of hallucinations.

Two days later after his State of the Union speech, Biden has already returned to his usual lack of situational awareness. Biden's unmissable Alzheimer and dementia symptoms are back in full public display - worse every day - all the time.

Biden again cannot even hold a few minutes talk without the most humiliating signs of dementia and Alzheimer.

- “the same building where our freedom came under assault on July 6th” - (oops, should have been January 6th)
- we cut the deficit, and we added more to the national deficit than any president - (clearly deranged)
- forgets the name of the Federal Reserve and its chief - refers disparagingly to him as “that outfit”
- “Send me to Congress” - (oops, should have been White House)
- “I know all these leaders of Europe ... they pull me aside and say: ‘I can't win again’ ”.

After the one-hour parenthesis of Biden’s probably drug-driven circus performance of rants, raised voicing, and anger in Congress, Biden is again getting more and more disoriented all the time. And remember, that Biden in any crisis situation will have to decide between nuclear war or not.

The US will in November 2024 choose between a possible US “leader” who doesn’t know what he says, where he is, who is who in France, Egypt and elsewhere, and what countries Mexico, Gaza, Ukraine etc. are affected by what conflict. Or another US leader who does know, but whom a lot of “liberals” will hate to see back in office.
