

The British Connection with Colombia's Police

New documents show that the UK has been training Colombian cops for years

By Telesur

Global Research, May 03, 2021

teleSUR 1 May 2021

Region: Europe, Latin America & Caribbean

Theme: Intelligence

All Global Research articles can be read in 51 languages by activating the “Translate Website” drop down menu on the top banner of our home page (Desktop version).

In the last few days, the Colombian police showed what it is capable of: between eight and 14 people were reportedly murdered by police officers, depending on accounts by different human rights organizations.

Scores more were injured and dozens arrested for joining a national strike and protesting on the streets of Bogota, Cali and other major Colombian cities.

It turns out that for the last three years Colombia's cops have been receiving training from the United Kingdom, according to the British publication The Canary.

“Documents obtained by The Canary can reveal that the UK's College of Policing has been training Colombian police over the past three years. This is despite Colombia being one of only 30 countries the Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office (FCD) lists as “Human rights priority countries,” journalist John McEvoy says.

#ParoNacional1M | A pesar de la represión del ESMAD, manifestantes en Bucaramanga continúan resistiendo pic.twitter.com/KeYjqB5SVA

— Colombia Informa (@Col_Informa) May 1, 2021

“The issue is of public concern in light of the UK government's possible complicity in human rights abuses abroad. But the College has refused to disclose where exactly the training occurred, the nature of the training, and the cost,” McEvoy says.

“In recent years, the College has come under fire for receiving millions of pounds to train repressive police regimes. These include Saudi Arabia, where the death penalty remains legal,” he adds.

#ATENCION

A esta hora toma pacífica del punto El Boquerón, carretera nacional que conecta el Tolima con Bogotá. La región del Sumapaz se suma, al

#ParoIndefinido de manera pacífica con delegaciones de San Bernardo, Arbeláez y Pasca. #ParoNacional1M pic.twitter.com/XyAVE18e3W

— Agencia Prensa Rural (@PrensaRural) May 1, 2021

*

Note to readers: please click the share buttons above or below. Forward this article to your email lists. Crosspost on your blog site, internet forums. etc.

Featured image: Colombian riot police harassing reporters in Popayan | Photo: Twitter/@col_informa

The original source of this article is teleSUR

Copyright © Telesur, teleSUR, 2021

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Telesur

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca