

British Parliament Plans for a Statue of War Criminal Tony Blair

By Felicity Arbuthnot

Global Research, September 06, 2012

Region: Europe

Theme: Crimes against Humanity

“At a time like this, scorching irony, not convincing argument, is needed. Oh had I the ability, and could reach the nation’s ear, I would, pour out a fiery stream of biting ridicule, blasting reproach, withering sarcasm, and stern rebuke.” (Frederick Douglass, 1818-1895.)

In the week when Archbishop Desmond Tutu has called for Tony Blair to be treated as other alleged war criminals and be tried at the International Criminal Court at The Hague, incredibly it transpires that the UK Parliament’s House of Commons Works of Art Committee has been in discussion for plans for a statue of the man who faces an attempt at a citizen’s arrest seemingly every time he appears in public, to feature in the Members Lobby.(i)

Since this proposed Orwellian tribute to a man that numerous leading international law experts are indeed working to have tried in the Hague will be at the taxpayers expense, the tax payer should surely have some say in the matter.

Last year, sculptress May Ayres held an eye watering exhibition of her work at St. John’s Church, in London’s Bethnal Green.(ii) “God’s Wars”, was dedicated to the victims of Blair’s lies, the broken lives, broken bodies, broken babies, accompanied by chilling depictions of Blair, Negroponte and the worst of deviant military might.

Ms Ayres Curator, Michael Perry encapsulates the wickedness of the assault on Iraq, largely enabled, argue the lawyers, by Blair’s duplicity and “dodgy dossiers.” Perry writes: “May and I both regard this lawless war as also the strangest and most sinister conflict that our country has ever been involved in.”

Writing in the (London) Observer (2nd September 2012) outlining the horrors Blair’s duplicity had wrought in Iraq, Archbishop Tutu commented: “ ... in a consistent world, those responsible for this suffering and loss of life should be treading the same path as some of their African and Asian peers who have been made to answer for their actions in the Hague.”

If history is not again to be a “chronicle of lies agreed on”, and if there must be a statue in Parliament as there is of all other 20th century Prime Ministers, May Ayres exhibition’s presentation of Tony Blair could not be surpassed as the real man behind the orange permanent and seemingly ceaseless grin. The Committee surely need look no further for a belatedly accurate replica:

<http://www.mayayres.com/GodsWars/27.jpg>

Oh, and given that he has also made a potential target of the British people where ever they travel and of British interests at home and abroad, for years, if not generations to come, perhaps it would be more aptly placed by Traitors Gate, at the Tower of London.

Notes

i.

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/politics/tony-blair/9512201/Tony-Blair-to-be-honoured-with-Parliament-bust.html>

ii. <http://www.globalresearch.ca/god-s-wars-looking-into-the-silence-to-find-the-answers/>

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Felicity Arbuthnot, Global Research, 2012

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Felicity Arbuthnot

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca