

De-globalization: How Much and at What Cost?

By Karsten Riise

Global Research, August 30, 2023

Region: Asia, Europe, USA

Theme: Global Economy

All Global Research articles can be read in 51 languages by activating the Translate Website button below the author's name.

To receive Global Research's Daily Newsletter (selected articles), click here.

Click the share button above to email/forward this article to your friends and colleagues. Follow us on Instagram and Twitter and subscribe to our Telegram Channel. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

***

Biden's China trade policy is ridiculous. An article in New York Times (NYT) today 28 August 2023 puts serious question marks on the policy of US President Biden and EU Commission President Ursula von der Leyen to "de-risk" (in fact, decouple) their western economies from China.

Yes, US imports from China have fallen significantly the past year, but US imports from countries like Vietnam and Mexico have filled out the gaps left by China and supplied the US with exactly the same products as China used to deliver to the US. But even worse for Biden's policy: these countries, like Vietnam and Mexico, are themselves importing more from China of exactly the same stuff, which they are now exporting more to the US. In other words, China's exports to US are not diminishing nearly as much as the trade statistics show. Instead of exporting to the US directly, China is just exporting via other countries like Vietnam and Mexico, often through Chinese owned companies there. See this.

Not only is Biden missing his target of actually decoupling the US economy from China. Worse, the costs to US consumers are increasing through Biden's anti-China trade practices. The EU better take notice too. No strategic improvement for the West of "decoupling", only higher costs for Western consumers.

The anti-globalization agenda of Biden and von der Leyen is still being executed as best as they can. But it will take more time and have considerably more costs for the US and the EU. Meanwhile, we see that Western jobs which moved to China are NOT coming back to the US or the EU. Export-related jobs just move from China to other countries in the Global South.

*

Note to readers: Please click the share button above. Follow us on Instagram and Twitter and subscribe to our Telegram Channel. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

Karsten Riise is a Master of Science (Econ) from Copenhagen Business School and has a university degree in Spanish Culture and Languages from Copenhagen University. He is the former Senior Vice President Chief Financial Officer (CFO) of Mercedes-Benz in Denmark and Sweden.

He is a regular contributor to Global Research.

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Karsten Riise, Global Research, 2023

---

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Karsten Riise

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca
www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca