

Did Baby Will of New Zealand Receive Blood from the Unjabbed After All?

I believe so, and here's why

The saga of Baby Will of New Zealand is now known worldwide, and I will direct the reader to Tessa Lena's excellent summary of it here.

You have probably heard the story of the baby snapped out of the parents' hands in New Zealand, so I'll be brief and to the point. Here is what happened, based on available information:

- The baby needed a heart surgery.
- The baby's parents had concerns about giving the baby a blood transfusion from a possibly COVID-vaccinated donor (and for good reasons—which most of us would likely agree on if the actual safety data weren't so heavily massaged and censored).
- Parents did their part to make it easy and found willing unvaccinated donors.
- The not-fascist-at-all administration of the health facility felt like allowing the parents so much control over the medical decisions concerning their baby would be an unacceptable blow to the public trust in the medical establishment.
- To solve the public trust problem, the health authorities filed a court case seeking to strip the parents of their parental rights for the duration of the surgery.

I believe that Baby Will received blood from the unjabbed, and I base my conclusion on the following.

First, the government of New Zealand is fully cognizant of the issues regarding the Pfizer Covid inoculation, including the damage wrought by the spike protein, the persistence of mRNA activity within the jabbed, and the excess mortality that has ensued in countries around the world, including New Zealand.

Despite their push for one hundred percent inoculation in its population and the propaganda they have used to support this, they understand full well the plethora of adverse events, which include death.

Second, given the global spotlight placed on this case, which even the mainstream media cannot have avoided, the New Zealand government and the New Zealand Blood Service would wish to avoid a public relations nightmare should Baby Will be damaged by having received blood products from those who have been jabbed.

Third, the bureaucratic rationale to deny anyone the blood donors of choice will have hit home even among people who have otherwise unquestioningly accepted every government Covid directive and recommendation. Why should anyone be denied blood from compatible donors of their own choice?

Fourth, the government of New Zealand has a national register of those who have been jabbed and those who have not.

In light of the above, a government culpable already of heinous disregard of its population's actual health (as I have shown here) would adopt a course to buttress its existing agenda, and that course would be:

1. secretly making sure that the infant remains healthy by taking no chances with the blood of the jabbed, covertly.
2. Publicly using the baby's recovery and well-being as a propaganda opportunity to assure us, falsely, that blood from those who have been inoculated is safe

This is how a devious totalitarian government would, to my mind, proceed. This is how those pushing the Globalist Agenda operate. The more we understand such machinations, the better prepared will we be.

The Worldwide Corona Crisis, Global Coup d'Etat Against Humanity

by Michel Chossudovsky

Michel Chossudovsky reviews in detail how this insidious project “destroys people’s lives”. He provides a comprehensive analysis of everything you need to know about the “pandemic” — from the medical dimensions to the economic and social repercussions, political underpinnings, and mental and psychological impacts.

“My objective as an author is to inform people worldwide and refute the official narrative which has been used as a justification to destabilize the economic and social fabric of entire countries, followed by the imposition of the “deadly” COVID-19 “vaccine”. This crisis affects humanity in its entirety: almost 8 billion people. We stand in solidarity with our fellow human beings and our children worldwide. Truth is a powerful instrument.”
