

Federal Judge Rejects Trump's Approval of Keystone XL Pipeline

By 350.org

Global Research, November 12, 2018
350.org 10 November 2018

Region: USA

Theme: Law and Justice, Oil and Energy

Last night, a federal judge invalidated Trump's "presidential permit" for Keystone XL, ruling that the Administration violated key laws when it approved the pipeline.

This momentous ruling is a major delay that sends the Trump administration and TransCanada back to the drawing board on Keystone XL. While Trump suggested plans to appeal, we are ready to resist every step of the way.

A federal judge late Thursday blocked construction of the disputed Keystone XL oil pipeline, saying the Trump administration "simply discarded" the effect the project would have on climate change <https://t.co/BD0eEC4ZBU>

— The New York Times (@nytimes) November 9, 2018

TransCanada is on the ropes. If thousands of us pledge to resist Keystone XL, it could be enough to convince them that this project isn't worth pursuing. Sign the Promise to Protect now.

This decision confirms what we've known all along — that Trump's executive order and environmental review process were a sham. Big Oil may have the money to push policy and politicians in favor of their profits, but we have morality, science, and the law on our side.

This case was filed by seven groups including Indigenous Environmental Network and the Northern Plains Resource Council. The judge stated that the Trump Administration "simply discarded" the effect the project would have on climate change. This means that no work can go forward until the government more fully reviews the pipeline's environmental impact.

From the plains of Montana, Nebraska, and South Dakota to Capitol Hill, we won't stop until Keystone XL is gone forever.

For over a decade, Indigenous peoples, farmers and ranchers, and their allies around the world have been fighting to stop this pipeline. Despite every obstacle thrown our way, the movement to keep fossil fuels in the ground has kept Keystone XL from being built.

And we're just getting started. There are over 17,000 people who have already committed to take peaceful direct action to stop this pipeline and any project that threatens our climate and communities. Let's double that number.

Read the full statement from the Promise to Protect coalition here.

*

Note to readers: please click the share buttons above. Forward this article to your email lists. Crosspost on your blog site, internet forums. etc.

The original source of this article is 350.org

Copyright © 350.org, 350.org, 2018

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: 350.org

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca