Every day I receive articles examining and reexamining Covid variants and subvariants, discussing studies about the effects of the pathogen, reporting on the ever-evolving plans for further 'vaccinations' and also the ever mounting evidence for the inefficacy and danger of the existing so-called vaccines and boosters. We are enveloped in a storm of information, from all sides, about what is in essence a sham. The pathogen exists, it has evolved, the jabs keep jabbing and all the while Phase I of the plan to digitize and enslave humanity is reaching its culmination - quite successfully, I should add.

In less than three years the Group - call it what you will - that engineered this phoney pandemic, shut down the entire world within weeks, and pushed a campaign of fear and control that had the best and brightest shilling for masks, lockdown, universal 'vaccination' and quarantines - this Cabal has managed to inoculate, at the time of writing, 68.2 percent of the world's population.

During this period various governments have discovered how easy it has been to control the peoples from whom, ostensibly, they derive their power. Medicine has been subverted and became an ignominious caricature of itself, the legal system has shown thoroughgoing corruption, and free speech and free expression have been punished. Bank accounts of those who protested governmental restrictions and illogical 'health' policies were violated and the creeping dissipation of once-cherished beliefs about fundamental human rights and ideals and the hitherto inviolability of one's savings and property has been tolerated.

As I expected from the lawless criminals who have imposed their agenda upon us, the mortality and morbidity resulting from their inoculations is now being attributed, by them, to the coronavirus they unleashed, and because of the unprecedented variability in 'vaccine' batches, their crimes have been further obscured. Truths about the origin of the pathogen and the effects of the jab have been concealed very cleverly, and while diligent researchers devote time to demonstrate, belatedly, what was evident from the beginning about the fraud, Phase II lies waiting to be unleashed.

I note with wry dismay that doctors who shilled on mainstream media for the Jab without exercising one iota of the critical thinking that should have been in operation from the beginning are now going very public with their mea culpas. But they are far too late, and their regrets do not move me to sympathy after the damage they have inflicted by their negligence.

And although many people have awoken to the hypocrisy, the greater majority remain unthinking and unquestioning still.

What lies in store for us?

China is giving us a glimpse. I have been appalled to learn from a correspondent in that vast country the conditions under which people lived during the infamous lockdown of Shanghai, China's most 'advanced' city, with a population of 26 million, from April to June of 2022. The inhabitants there were confined to their apartments, or apartment buildings, or apartment complexes, depending on Covid case proximity, and positive cases were forced to move to Fangcang shelter hospitals. The delivery of food was unreliable and inadequate. In my informant's words, "it's worse than prison because the prisoners still have some time to walk around the prison."

Nasal and throat PCR tests were administered with alarming frequency - sometimes twice daily -and even now malls, shops and restaurants require a negative PCR test within 72 hours for entry. There are PCR testing booths throughout the vast city, apparently to stay. Paper money has virtually disappeared from use, and cash apps via mobile phones have become the norm. Jabs were 'encouraged' for everyone, from age 3 upwards - but curiously enough the pressure to be jabbed came from no official government document or decree, but from school teachers, employers, community workers, etc.

During Phase II of the Agenda in the West, the Green New Deal with carbon tracking systems will be introduced, cash will be phased out, and those who have been unfortunate enough to have been jabbed will be getting sick and dying in significant numbers. Digitization, with its utopian promise of convenience, has lulled us into complacent passivity. The wet dream of the Technocratic Elite will be well on its way, unless ... unless we reclaim our senses and recognize that a renaissance of the human spirit can reverse these impositions. Power - human power - flows up from the populace, not down from it's self-appointed hegemony.

Rousseau famously began his Social Contract with the observation that men are born free and everywhere in chains. The goal of humankind, fettered from within by instinct and from without by institutionally imposed strictures, is to realize the promise of its unalienable right to liberty.

Should one wish for inspiration, the example of the late psychoanalyst Muriel Gardiner comes to mind. After the Anschluss in Austria this brave heroine fought a fight of guile, courage and indefatigability in the underground, as she recounts in her autobiographical memoir, Code Name "Mary".

I reread it just last week and I can think of no more relevant work to assist those of us seeking to break the chains of deceit, confusion, terror and blunt force epitomized by the Corona War against humanity, a war that is the most encompassing and unique in our brief history. How we fight will determine the outcome, and fight we will - with dignity, determination, adaptability, intelligence, and without masochism, for we aspire to victory, not martyrdom.
