Feb. 3, 2023 - Oregon - 41 year old former Navy Seal and Firefighter Brandon Norbury went into cardiac arrest right after training and died (click here)(click here).

The last day of Brandon Norbury's life began when he clocked in at 7 a.m. for a 24-hour shift at Station 31.

Norbury, a Gresham firefighter for 15 years, had reported for a new assignment that morning, Feb. 3. Station 31, which is near the Portland-Gresham border and responds to calls in both cities, is one of the busiest in the metro area, and Norbury felt like he was coming home. He had worked at the station a decade earlier.

He was ready to get to work. With his background, he easily could have bragged – he was a former Navy SEAL who'd survived multiple overseas missions, then spent eight years as a Gresham police officer. But Norbury's motto was simple: Do, don't talk.

He turned to firefighting because he'd had enough of confrontations, he told friends. Norbury, who was single and had a daughter, wanted a job that only involved helping others.

His new assignment landed him on Engine 31. He was familiar with the rig, but rules required him to take a refresher course called hose evolution. That meant practicing taking hoses off the rig, hooking them to a hydrant and then attaching the other ends to the engine. Over and over he drilled that morning, speed and efficiency with his team being paramount.

When the training ended, Norbury stowed the hoses. But Norbury suddenly wasn't feeling well. He took a breather on Engine 31's back bumper.

Without a word he toppled to the pavement, surrounded by firefighters and paramedics. He was rushed to a nearby hospital, where he was pronounced dead. The official cause: cardiac arrest.

Within the insular world of firefighting, word spread quickly.

Charles "Chad" Cate was found dead by his crew members around 7 a.m. on Thursday, Jan. 12, the Clallam County Fire District 3 said in a Facebook post.

He had responded to a fire activation call at a commercial building at around 2:25 a.m., the department said.

Then he texted another captain and duty chief around 4 a.m. that all was well at a scene from an earlier house fire, the U.S. Fire Administration said.

When he got back to the station, everyone went to sleep, the fire department said. But Cate didn't wake up in the morning.

John Martin Garner

March 20, 1977 - December 14, 2022

Obituary for John Martin Garner

John Martin Garner, age 45

John Garner died suddenly December 14th, 2022 from heart issues after intensive water rescue training. John's life may have been cut short, but he touched the hearts of many while he was here with us.

John was born in Sunnyside, WA on March 20, 1977, to Tamra Garner and John Steinbock. John's life as a child started in Othello, Washington and he spent most of his teenage years in Marysville, before eventually settling down in Tenino, Washington where he was living with his chosen partner Carlyn Parker and son Preston. John and Carlyn met and dated many years ago and then 4 years ago found their way back to each other to finish their love story. They shared this love for each other and enjoyed spending time with their son Preston often making improvements to their new home. John was very proud of his man cave and showed it off to anyone who stopped by. His new hobby was smoking whiskey and if you had visited him, he would likely make you follow him to the man cave to show you his newfound skill. He was a lifelong fan and season ticket holder of the Seattle Seahawks. It was rare John missed a home game and would often travel to away games to cheer on his favorite team. Everyone close to John knows his love for Karaoke and would often convince others to join him singing and swing dancing.

"John's public service started in the military, where he served in the Army as a Sergeant earning several ribbons and medals.

John's tenure in the fire service spans more than two decades, starting his career with the Ocean Shores Fire Department. John spent ten years with Ocean Shores before coming to Central Pierce Fire & Rescue. Not only was John a fantastic Firefighter and Paramedic, but he was also very active in the International Association of Firefighters with both Local 2109 and Local 726.

John recently decided to join Central Pierce Fire & Rescue's Water Rescue Team. John had been actively engaged in the training requirements for his new position, building skills to respond to water rescue incidents within the District and throughout Pierce County when requested.

John's strong commitment to humanity was present in so many ways throughout his career. John was a constant contributor to the Burn Foundation, providing food and toys for families through IAFF Local 726's Adopt a Family Program. John actively participated in numerous other programs, including Coats for Kids and MDA-Fill the Boot. To say John gave more than he took would be an understatement. John was simply a great human!"

Two Florida Firefighter paramedics committed suicide. Trip Wooten on Jan. 9, 2023 and Allen Singleton on Jan. 28, 2023 (click here)

My Take...

Former Blackrock Hedge Fund Manager Ed Dowd looked at US insurance data and made the following findings: (click here starting at 8:25)

- Since Jan.2021, disability rate of those who remained in the workforce during COVID-19 vaccine mandates versus those who dropped out of the workforce (and didn't get COVID-19 vaccines) is 550% higher in the vaccinated group.
- Excess mortality is up 40% among those ages 25-64 who remained in the workforce in 2021 and took COVID-19 vaccines. (click here starting 3:33)

What were the most vaccinated professions?

- Doctors, nurses, pilots, police officers, firefighters, military, city workers (bus drivers, etc), teachers.

These are the groups seeing the most sudden deaths right now.

Due to spike protein accumulation in the brain, suicide risk is also increased in the COVID-19 vaccinated.

The Worldwide Corona Crisis, Global Coup d'Etat Against Humanity

by Michel Chossudovsky

Michel Chossudovsky reviews in detail how this insidious project “destroys people’s lives”. He provides a comprehensive analysis of everything you need to know about the “pandemic” — from the medical dimensions to the economic and social repercussions, political underpinnings, and mental and psychological impacts.

“My objective as an author is to inform people worldwide and refute the official narrative which has been used as a justification to destabilize the economic and social fabric of entire countries, followed by the imposition of the “deadly” COVID-19 “vaccine”. This crisis affects humanity in its entirety: almost 8 billion people. We stand in solidarity with our fellow human beings and our children worldwide. Truth is a powerful instrument.”
