

Gaddafi's Secret Burial, NTC to Investigate Death

By Global Research

Global Research, October 25, 2011

UPI 25 October 2011

Region: Middle East & North Africa

Theme: Law and Justice

In-depth Report: NATO'S WAR ON LIBYA

MISURATA, Libya, Oct. 25 (UPI) — Fallen Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi and his son, Mutassim Gadhafi, were buried Tuesday at an undisclosed location, a government official said.

Anees al-Sharif, a spokesman for the National Transitional Council's military unit, said members of the former leader's tribe were allowed to pray over the body before it was buried in an unmarked grave in the early-morning hours, CNN reported.

The Gadhafis, along with former Defense Minister Abu Bakr Yunis, were buried five days after they were killed in Sirte. The three bodies were available for public viewing at a walk-in cold-storage room in Misurata.

In a statement, Gadhafi's family called on the United Nations and Amnesty International to pressure Libya's new leaders "to hand over the bodies of the martyrs of their tribe so they can be buried according to Islamic rites," a pro-Gadhafi television station reported.

The NTC, the United Nations and other organizations have called for an independent investigation into the Gadhafi's death.

NTC Chairman Mustafa Abdul Jalil and other officials have said Gadhafi was killed in crossfire. However, Jalil said Monday, "In response to international calls, we have started to put in place a commission tasked with investigating the circumstances of Moammar Gadhafi's death in the clash with his circle as he was being captured."

The inquiry was formed to determine whether Gadhafi was killed execution-style after being captured alive by fighters Thursday in Sirte or died in crossfire as government officials assert. Jalil suggested anti-Gadhafi fighters may not have been the ones who killed him, hinting the fatal bullets might have come from Gadhafi supporters who feared he would implicate them in atrocities if he survived and was put on trial, The New York Times reported.

Jalil also sought to reassure Western supporters Libya would be a "moderate" Muslim nation, backing away from his statement Sunday during a liberation ceremony that Shariah, the legal code of Islam, would be the basis of all legislation, The Daily Telegraph reported.

"I would like to assure the international community that we as Libyans are Muslims, but moderate Muslims," he said.

France and the European Union had warned the NTC to respect human rights soon after Jalil spoke Sunday.

Meanwhile, a fuel tank explosion in Sirte killed more than 100 people, an NTC official said Tuesday.

“There was an enormous explosion and a huge fire. More than 100 people were killed and 50 others wounded” in Monday night’s explosion, NTC commander Leith Mohammed said.

The original source of this article is UPI
Copyright © Global Research, UPI, 2011

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Global Research

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca