Just under the surface of daily life two starkly opposing forces are at work: 'the will for life' and 'the will for no life'. Both are wrestling their way towards becoming the dominant reality of this era. It's a race against time.

The clock has been set by Madkind, with the disturbingly passive acceptance of much of Mankind.

Madkind is obsessed by mechanical time. It sets the clock and demands its agenda be implemented according to the time frame it decrees.

'The Great Reset' is the appropriately named most recent clock setting event initiated by Madkind.

It has placed some key dates in its agenda for the transference of organic life into a digitally controlled robotic look-alike, with the purpose of rendering Mankind obsolete.

It finds 2025/26, 2030 and 2045/50 useful markers by which to achieve particular phases of this ambition.

We know Madkind's game plan because it is explicitly laid out in UN Agenda 2030 and the World Economic Forum's Fourth Industrial Revolution/Green New Deal.

On the financial side, for a start, a central bank digital currency with a social credit compliance program to control individual's access to their bank accounts, is clocked in for circa 2026.

Global economic stagnation and swathes of human starvation are timed to follow.

By 2030, Madkind's agenda states that the process of digitalisation and artificial intelligence (IT) will have usurped much of Mankind's emotional and rational thinking capacity; with natural powers of reproduction also sterilised into submission by ever increasing atmospheric geoengineering, water and food denaturing, electromagnetic frequencies (EMF) and weaponised vaccination programmes.

By the same date around fifty percent of food is planned to be created in factory laboratories. Synthetic, genetically modified and with no connection with soil.

Insects are high on the list for protein replacement, once milk, meat and eggs have been rendered 'off the menu' due to their being identified as complicit in Madkind's mad global warming invention.

Energy production is slated to be largely divorced from fossil fuel burning practices by this same date. Replaced by what it sees as 'Green' solutions taking over the powering of what is left of productive industry.

By 2045/50 Madkind sees itself in the driving seat with its so called 'Net Zero' (no carbon dioxide) policy having further reduced natural biodiversity and world populations to a fraction of current levels, replacing Mankind with the AI Transhuman cyborg version and a slave race of Humankind preserved for menial duties unsuited to robots.

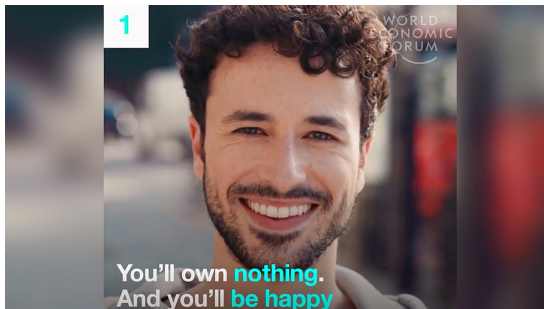

This is a purely cursory, indicative list – as there is far more insanity in the pipeline than mentioned here. And Madkind has a plan B, C and D if A fails to materialise (on time).

To further remind one's self, just check Mad Schwab's description of the Fourth Industrial Revolution and Mad Harari's declaration "We will do better than God".

Meanwhile, in the race against time, a still small but steadily growing percentage of Mankind is realising that its future on this planet is under threat, like never before.

Information concerning the nature of this crisis is humming through the internet ether; is under discussion in thousands of conference venues, private homes and work places.

Mankind is stirring and Madkind is trying to block the growing momentum.

There are energetic forces at play here that we cannot see, but can feel. They counteract the brain targetted torpor manufactured by Madkind's 'Cerebral Valley' military industrial complex and directed at chosen targets by devious 'intelligence' operatives in the CIA, Mossad, MI5, MI6, FBI and more.

Mankind is awakening to the reality of its slavery to Madkind's mad ambitions. This is the epicenter of the clash Life-v-Death. And we are all, whether we know it or not, active players in this unprecedented drama.

Yes, it's a race against time: will the power of awakened spirit get there first and break the Satanic code of the psychopaths - thereby freeing Mankind from Madkind's inhuman prison?

Or will the psychos keep their grip on the mental and physical health of enough mortals to maintain its grinding momentum?

Nobody can second-guess the future; but everyone capable of ringing the bell and jumping onto the fire engine cannot any longer turn their backs on the challenge facing Mankind. But must turn to face and to combat the threat of extinction that Madkind has planned and already set in motion on may levels.

Although there are one hundred and one ways of taking up the call to action, there are two foundational principles which we should all respect in order to build our strength of purpose and our pureness of intent to be victors of life over death: an inner nurturing of light and an outer manifestation of that light's powers.

These two actions should become instilled in us, to constitute the central daily rhythm of our lives.

By 'outer manifestation of light's powers' I specifically mean taking action in support of social, economic, environmental and political change for the overall emancipation of Humanity and nature.

No matter what other tasks or work schedules we have to maintain, each day should start and end with a space dedicated to the nurturing of our deeper self and the activation of resulting powers in the cause of breaking our oppressor's cult of death.

Always inner reflection leading to outer action, never just one or the other.

Highly recommended is also a point during each day when one remembers why one is here, what one's bigger role is in this life and how one can properly manifest it.

Our (human) soul lives forever. Its journey is eternal and the area of travel is infinite.

But this onward journey into the bosom of creation - and ever closer to the birth place of Life, will not materialise from wishful thinking or from prayer.

Only through our determination to realise and to manifest our true selves, our higher energies - and, I repeat, channel these into actions dedicated to the emancipation of all mankind and of nature. That is our passport to eternal freedom.

There is therefore no point in thinking "I'll be glad to leave this crazy world and finally be free."

Such is the great deception perpetrated by religious authoritarianism and the teachers of spiritual escapism, that many suffer this grand illusion.

Until we gain the power to break out of Madkind's selfish and seductive soul trap, we have no passport to freedom, in this life or in the after life.

Without making a continuous effort for self realisation - and without cultivating the will to direct the fruits of this process towards the manifestation of justice and truth, one commits a form of soul suicide.

This means never escaping the wheel of repeating returns to the 'slave status' one has been trapped in, in previous existences.

Madkind's extinction agenda counts on us not taking-up this daily commitment for the realisation of true freedom. This beautiful sense of finally being settled on the path of a profound truth. Of oneness with the Cosmic Nucleus from whence we came.

How many times must one return to this planet, only to find the same - but further rotted - garbage one left behind on the last time around?

Failure to clean up and move on - means being caught-up in a perpetual cycle of mental and physical imprisonment.

This is a universal law - which in the East is called Karma - from which there is no escape. Except the one based on the process I have outlined, however briefly.

There is no time to loose. We are in this race against time, and it's probably the most meaningful stimulus any of us will ever get in order to train ourselves to become spiritual warriors.

In order to manifest that which is impregnable to Madkind's agents of degradation and destruction, our focus must be on becoming fully primed for victory.

This is our raison d'etre. Why we came to this tarnished yet radiant planet earth.

We are brothers and sisters engaged in birthing the global realisation of our true potentiality.

We are empowered since our inception with all that's needed to rise up and defeat Madkind.

If it's only due to a lack of necessity that we have squandered this potential thus far, then that time has passed.

Have no doubt about our ability to defeat Madkind. Over fifty percent of what it takes to win our battle simply involves reinforcing our determination to fully express our humanity - that which contains the seeds of invincibility.

Nurturing all that is warm, loving, true, determined and courageous. I stress 'courageous', as Madkind is essentially cowardly.

Behind its facade of pomp and power is a debilitating weakness, a Godless void. Madkind has no spunk - it cowers behind its digitalised surveillance weaponry and addiction to broadcasting fear.

Just stand up to Madkind - and it is finished.

Armed with courage and gifted with a determined sense of self belief - we hold the Ace card.

It's time to play it!
