

The Dollar and the Globalist Power Complex: Overcoming 'Designer-Chaos' at a Critical Moment for the Human Race

Order Out of Chaos - 'E Pluribus Unem' - thanks to its being imprinted on the US Dollar bill, is a well known epithet. It is accompanied by a pyramid in whose apex is embedded the all seeing Eye of Horus.

You won't find a more stark symbol of the ambition of the globalist power complex than this.

But as familiar as it is, it is worth reminding ourselves that this message is so brazenly printed on the bank note of the US currency because that country's banking empire was designed to lead the take over and domination the world.

With the creation of The Federal Reserve as a public/private banking institution in 1913 came the financial means to fund the US as the new global hegemon, taking over where the British left off.

The Rockefeller family encapsulated US elite ambitions to bring into reality a 'New World Order' with US power brokers at the helm. Thus the despotic call for 'Full Spectrum Dominance'.

Once joined up with the European Rothschild's, a banking superpower was born that financed both the fascist and the 'allies' military industrial project, fully exploiting the power of the 'divide and conquer' formula during two world wars and beyond.

The objective was to not only get rich from war but also to crush the life out of the broad swathe of humanity whose instincts were essentially peaceful.

In order to be successful, this process - incorporating as it does general population reduction - needed to instil 'chaos' into the very foundation of society at a global level.

The instilling of chaos on a global level is a long term affair. It has to eat its way into the heart of relatively stable national institutions; cultures; established socio economic trading patterns; environmental protection; agriculture; the arts; education and of course standard financial practices.

What I think we can safely say is that this process of totally undermining the stability of planetary existence and the basic equilibrium of human life is only now coming into its full expression.

It needed to absorb every nation state of the Western world, of Eastern Europe and Asia and the great majority of Southern hemisphere land masses and peoples, before having the capacity to fully dictate terms on the global stage.

Such unbridled megalomania was encapsulated in the initiative known as The Project for the New American Century, established as a 'think tank' in the mid 1990's, but actually operating as a global policy maker.

The human and collateral damage done since this time has been massive. However the US has bankrupted itself in the process, both economically and psychically. The bottom has fallen out of the world policeman's beat - with the baton having been taken up by the shadow government hierarchy which is no longer identified with any particular land mass.

The deep state hierarchy was actually 'in charge' all along, but the US was chosen to be the front for its ambitions.

The global lockdowns achieved via mass promotion and indoctrination of the Covid scam are the most stark example of this one world dictatorship manoeuvring itself to exert the latest forms of chaos into every corner of the planet.

Chaos, taking the form of war fermentation, is now manifesting in Ukraine, Israel/Palestine, Jordan, Lebanon, Syria and seeks to draw in Iran, Iraq, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and pretty much the whole of the Middle East.

The devastation takes different forms elsewhere, but is equally harsh. It can, and does, take the form of planned weather destabilisation leading to excess heat and excess precipitation, causing desertification and flooding of both populations centres and prime agricultural land.

Not just this, but the more precise targetted weaponising of weather via HAARP and scalar weapon activation leads to earthquakes, fires and tornadoes reeking their destruction on chosen targets.

Who is not questioning the origins of hurricanes Helene and Milton whose devastation of South and central Florida and into the Carolinas, brought misery and chaos to millions of residents?

Death tolls from such incidents are rising inexorably - and they are not examples of anthropogenic global warming doing its worst, as the super hyped ulterior motive of global warming/climate change is continuously rolled-out to insinuate.

This false flag global warming gaslighting was devised by the same hegemon who devised the world wide 'order out of chaos' destabilisation package.

No one should fall for their deeply sinister ambitions to bring humanity to its knees and to exact every last ounce of material and energetic reward in the process.

So here we are today, faced by the further manifestation of chaos at the hands of a small demonic elite whose insentient, compassionless state of being allows them to commit every kind of murderous homicide and genocide with apparent impunity.

We the people have to confront this reality head-on. There is no escaping it. And the first major problem we have is that the majority don't believe in the existence of insentient psychopaths.

They look into their own emotional repertoire and don't find that particular ailment. So they conclude it can't be true.

The life haters are, in most peoples eyes, just crazed or sick humans having a murderous spree inadequately dealt with by inept, self satisfied governments.

If it were the case that only a bunch of crazed humans were on the loose, the damage suffered by this planet and its people would be a small fraction of what it is.

No, those in control of the proliferation of chaos are much darker, more cunning and much more single minded. Out of their chaos is supposed to emerge 'The New World Order' - 'Order' out of chaos.

Have a good look around and you will see that the 'new order' is slyly being pushed into place under the protection and distraction of increasingly chaotic surface events - and it's not even covert any more.

Klaus Schwab and his henchmen at the World Economic Forum have already announced the Fourth Industrial Revolution and Green Deal to be part of 'A Great Reset'.

They are proud to declare that under this new order "You will own nothing and you will be happy".

Add to this the advent (this September 2024) of 'The Pact for the Future' United Nations summit in which all UN signed-up world leaders nodded their approval of a common position in the shared digitalisation, centralisation and exploitation of global power. In Schwab's terms, putting into effect 'you will own nothing we will own everything'.

We are entering a critical point in the inexorable rolling-out of a plan whose blueprint was hatched a good deal earlier than the privatisation of the Federal Reserve. Even before the creation of the Bank of England in 1694; an enterprise established specifically to enable Britain to go to war with France.

It matters not what the origins of this take over are. What matters is that the preliminary manifestation/actualisation of it has arrived and is encircling us even as I write.

What action are we taking? What action are we to take to derail this behemoth?

This is not a story in a book, a podcast, a news headline or a social media alert. It's none of these. It's actual - and without realising it the majority are helping to drive the beast on.

By failing to actively involve ourselves in the struggle to confront the agents of chaos and control, we leave the door open for their take-over of our lives. We become causal agents in the deliberately inflicted destitution, the droughts, the floods, the wars, the environmental degradation, the fear – the lack of a resolution.

For many this is an uncomfortable admission to digest. But its indigestibility doesn't mean it isn't true.

Coming face to face with intentional chaos demands a heightened level of discernment, including an awareness that intentional disruptions also spawn unintended consequences for their perpetrators. These also become part of the often unseen/unnoticed action/reaction matrix.

In order to wake-up to this fact – using scientific terminology – we have to shift from a linear Newtonian mind set to a state of holistic quantum awareness. Otherwise we cannot understand what it is we are involved with.

Quantum made us realise that we are no longer observers of events – we never were – we are part of them. We cannot now regress back to a state of tunnel vision ignorance.

We can no longer simply wonder what will happen – from a distance. Our 'onlooker' misdirected energies are a significant factor in what's driving the whole tragic drama.

Our involvement is implicit. So we have no option but to renew our efforts to resist, to keep on exposing injustice, lies and deception – while taking actions that lay the foundations for a redeemed, restored and resonating planet.

Unseen by us, and on another plain, such actions provoke a major transformation – a reversal – of the top down control system's grip on world affairs.

That time line is not yet expressed as a complete metamorphosis, but that is coming. The rate at which it advances depends upon how purposefully we collectively direct our energies to the task at hand.

The more of us who engage in positive, courageous counteractions to the perpetrators of the death wish, the sooner will their ambitions be punctured, deflated and destroyed.

But holding back, hiding from reality and continuing to support the already deeply corrupted socio economic and political status quo, runs directly counter to our redemption. It simply aids the suffocating agenda of our anti-life oppressors.

This is why I stated the unpalatable truth that under these conditions we become causal agents of the process of destruction. Complicit in aiding and abetting the dark agents of a dehumanised world.

Yes, it comes down to something as starkly contrasting as that. We are either working every day for the emancipation of humanity and all living beings, or we are supporting their agonising demise.

Each one of us individually must get to grips with this (inconvenient) truth.

That will draw us closer together. Even if this togetherness is not spacial, but spirit based, it will be enough to shift the entire dark side agenda and get the forces behind the great turning into the driving seat.

So you see, the future is in our hands. Embrace this. Act with sincerity and courage. Raise the level of your mental, spiritual and physical commitment to confront evil at every turn. Because at this time – and at all times – nothing matters more.
