

SATIRE: In a Gesture of Goodwill, Al Qaeda Unveils a Two-Tiered Terror Campaign Involving Mr. Yuk Yuk

By Norman Ball

Global Research, September 25, 2013

Theme: Militarization and WMD, Terrorism

In what is being widely hailed as a diplomatic breakthrough in the two-tier, CIA-funded My Terrorist, My Friend Campaign (sort of), al Qaeda has agreed to affix Mr. Yuk-Yuk labels to all chemical weapons headed inbound to their North American terror cells.

Speaking upwind near their Somali chemical weapons factory, an al Qaeda spokesman announced, "As a token of goodwill to our new-found American partners in Syria, we want to give the American people a fighting chance when it comes to ID-ing sarin-filled suitcases, baby carriages and large brown envelopes left unattended in key America cities. While not a panacea aimed at entirely curbing our deadly mischief, we view it as a sporting good chance." When queried if there even are al Qaeda cells in North America, the spokesman pulled his scarf tighter across his face and began singing battle songs in a loud voice tinged with malevolence and insurgent intent.

Fortunately more information was available at the al Qaeda Internet store. Mr. Yuk-Yuk labels will be prominently affixed to all packages. These labels will include a toll-free number serviced by Bangalore help desk employees trained in clipped English and panic-mitigation techniques.

All third-world terror locales will continue to be caught completely unawares via standard terrorist packaging. Paypal accepted.

Not all Americans are on-board however. In fact one petition is circling the nation right now which would designate Capitol Hill a Mr. Yuk-Yuk Free Zone. "Until they remove their exemptions from various labor, safety, health laws and freedom of information requests, they don't deserve the Mr. Yuk-Yuk early alert courtesy," huffed one irate citizen.

al Qaeda, in cooperation with Mr. Yuk-Yuk brings you the...

'MY TERRORIST, MY FRIEND CAMPAIGN (SORT OF)'

W ar weary, beleaguered and thoroughly confused the America populace counted to ten before throwing up its arms en masse. Said one mystified gentlemen at the side of the road, "I run a popsicle stand. So I guess I'll wait for Senator Carl Levin to release a Powerpoint chart with a lot of lines going here, there and everywhere."

One mother wailed, "My son died in Afghanistan in 2003 hunting al Qaeda terrorists. I only wish they'd had a similar visibility campaign for IEDs."

Mr. Yuk-Yuk could not be reached for comment. However he reportedly was greener around the gills than usual, not to mention a tad nervous about his new responsibilities. His attorney did return our call however. "My client prefers hanging around lye, antifreeze and deadly pesticides under the sink. The notion of being discussed in the corridors of Capitol Hill is making him positively ill."

Norman Ball (BA Political Science/Econ, Washington & Lee University; MBA, George Washington University) is a well-travelled Scots-American businessman, author and poet whose essays have appeared in Counterpunch, The Western Muslim and elsewhere. His new book "Between River and Rock: How I Resolved Television in Six Easy Payments" is available here. Two essay collections, "How Can We Make Your Power More Comfortable?" and "The Frantic Force" are spoken of here(Preview) and here (Preview) , respectively. A collection of poetry "Serpentlope" is due out early 2014 from White Violet Press. He can be reached at returntoone@hotmail.com.

The original source of this article is Global Research

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Norman Ball

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca