Donald vs. Hillary: A Still Uncertain Election. Both Candidates Remain Unpopular with the Majority of Americans

By Jack A. Smith, August 16 2016

Is it possible that Republican presidential candidate Donald Trump will self-destruct well before the election? It certainly looked that way, given one major blunder after another in the days after his nomination at the July 18-21 Republican National Convention in Cleveland. Here's another question: Or is it possible he can win? Both options are still on the table because despite voting polls both candidates continue to remain unpopular with the majority of Americans.

Election Reflections 2016 - Trump and Clinton Visit Detroit

By Abayomi Azikiwe, August 16 2016

During the week of August 8 both Republican Party nominee Donald Trump and his Democratic counterpart Hillary Clinton made policy speeches in the Detroit metropolitan area. Trump addressed the Detroit Economic Club on August 8 where he put forward his program for the revitalization of the United States. The presidential candidate delivered the address at Cobo Conference Center in downtown Detroit.

Trump's Aggressive Foreign Policy

By Stephen Lendman, August 16 2016

His August 15 foreign policy address in Youngstown, OH showed he'll govern as an establishment leader if elected in November - continuing dirty geopolitical business as usual vital to end once and for all. He'll wage endless wars to "defeat radical Islamic terrorism," he said - without explaining its US creation and support at least since the 1980s in Afghanistan against Soviet Russia.

America's Illegal Wars of Conquest. Terrorist Embedded Propagandists, Demoning the Target Countries

By Mark Taliano, August 16 2016

Patterns have long since emerged. We know that each illegal war of conquest is prefaced by a Public Relations campaign that demonizes the target country's leader and its government as it lies about on-the-ground realities. Muammar Gaddafi, for example, was presented to Western media consumers as a lunatic and despot. The Western narratives, however, were contradicted by the fact that he earned broad-based support from Libyans, all of whom enjoyed public services such as free healthcare and schooling, and a high standard of living.

China Hosts G20 Summit: Innovation, Structural Reform, "Towards an Inclusive World Economy"

By Carla Stea, August 15 2016

China's Presidency of the G20 culminates next month with the Hangzhou Summit, a gathering of world leaders and an extraordinary opportunity to steer the world economy toward a more equitable, stable and productive architecture which achieves the goal of "win-win" cooperation, long advocated by China, and ultimately benefiting both developed and developing countries alike. The theme of the Hangzhou Summit is: "Toward an innovative, Invigorated, Interconnected and Inclusive World Economy."
