Saydnaya Prison "Crematorium" - Another US Fabrication Against the Syrian Government

By Global Research News

Global Research, May 20, 2017

"Well, the totally imaginary interior of Saydnaya now - according to US State Dept - has a totally imaginary "crematorium" added to it in which to dispose of all the totally theoretical corpses being generated by the completely unsubstantiated mass-murders. Here is the impressive and plausible Stuart Jones telling us all about it." (Catte, OffGuardian)

"While painting a picture of torture, neglect, and even mass executions, Amnesty forgot to include any actual evidence to corroborate its claims. The only actual evidence included in a report that otherwise consisted only of alleged interviews and 3D models of the prison made in London, was a picture taken from outer space by an imaging satellite." (Tony Cartalucci)

Global Research brings to your attention the articles below on another failed attempt by the US in toppling down the Assad regime.

The report's release and leveraging by the US came just ahead of another round of talks aimed at stemming the catastrophic 6 year conflict. The move by the US was a bid to give Washington and its regional allies extra leverage at the negotiating table. And now - months later - and just when the US is in need of more leverage, the Sednaya story has once again been revived.
