COVID-19 is the largest and the most comprehensive psychological operation in human history.

Narratives are meticulously controlled. Propaganda is persistent. Fear is key to the success of this psy-op.

But ultimately mainstream media propaganda channels are run by humans who either experience mea culpas or simply make critical errors that could potentially awaken the lambs. Microsoft is now cleaning up one of those errors that caused major upheaval among vaxx zealots.

The Control Group Cooperative (CGC) was formed in July 2021. The founders recognized that traditional research universities and organizations refuse to do studies comparing the health of vaccinated versus non-vaccinated populations. Dr. Robert Verkerk of the Alliance for Natural Health International, led a team that analyzed the CGC data, that currently includes over 305,000 non-vaccinated study participants in 175 countries. They are all provided ID cards that identify them as clinical subjects and thus “must not be vaccinated.”

Many of said participants reported that the ID cards prevented the myriad loses of liberty and overt discrimination regularly face by the non-vaccinated across the globe. All participants agreed to fill out monthly surveys regarding their health. The instant study, uploaded to the ResearchGate preprint server on June 8, reports the results of the first five months of said surveys (October 2021 to February 2022).

The researchers made clear that all participants self-selected to participate versus being randomly selected. They also self-reported via online surveys. Thus this study is not directly comparable to traditional observational studies. The instant study focuses on a sub-cohort of 18,327 participants out of 297,618 who had registered by the end of February 2022.

The broad-based survey measured everything from discrimination faced by the non-vaccinated to the burdens placed on hospitals due to non-vaccinated patients. For the record, Europeans (60%) and Aussies/New Zealanders (57%) reported the most discrimination and hate incidents. Non-vaccinated Aussies and New Zealanders lost their jobs more often (29%) than anyone else. By comparison, 13% of North Americans reported job losses because they were non-vaccinated.

The survey findings were compared to pro rata adjusted CDC data on hospitalizations related to so-called COVID-19. CDC data found that 10.4% of Americans experienced symptomatic illness from October 2021 to February 2022. The CGC cohort experienced 25% symptomatic disease. The number is so much higher than the CDC number because anything from fatigue to a cough was reported as symptomatic illness.

A vast majority (71%) of the cohort reported self-treatment with some combination of zinc, quercetin, and Vitamins C and D. Ivermectin and hydroxychloroquine were also commonly used for self-treatments. But it's the hospitalization data that sent mainstream media into a panicked frenzy.

The narrative around the injections went from "it stops transmission" in early 2021 to "it prevents hospitalization" in 2022. The data say otherwise. The CDC reported that 0.6% of Americans were hospitalized due to so-called COVID-19 from October 2021 to February 2022. That's compared to 0.4% of the non-vaccinated cohort. Thus you are 33% less likely to be hospitalized for/with/of so-called COVID-19 if you're non-vaccinated. But again, there was no direct vaccinated cohort compared to the non-vaccinated cohort in the CGC study.

The fallout ensues at MSN.com

The CGC survey was originally reported by Luigi Caler at Medical Daily on June 14. Several hours later, MSN.com re-published the article.

Note that MSN.com is the "Microsoft Network" and the default homepage for the Microsoft Internet Explorer web browser.

The article remained live on MSN.com for close to 24 hours. But now the original link redirects to the MSN.com homepage. It is only accessible now via archives. As of Sunday, June 19, when you search the exact title of the article via Google, you get the following. The MSN.com article does not appear in the search results.

When you search Luigi Caler, the original author of the Medical Daily article, the MSN article is the ninth result on the first page of Google results.

Regardless, Twitter blue-check vaxx zealots lost their ever-loving minds, and relentlessly attacked MSN.com for republishing the article.

It's unclear who is in charge of republishing articles on MSN.com or who runs the RSS feeds that automatically republishes articles on said site. But rest assured, someone has been fired or worse.

Accidental truth more common than not

Fauci completely malfunctioned on live television on April 26. He said on PBS NewsHour that the world is "out of the pandemic phase" of COVID-19. The next day, then White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki corrected Fauci in front of the world.

In fact Fauci is one of the primary providers of accidental truth in this age of lies and deceit. He admitted in August 2020 that any and all PCR tests exceeding 36 cycles of amplification are essentially finding "dead nucleotides" and are false positives for COVID-19. The United States used 40 cycles throughout 2020. The U.K. used 45. Of course the FDA rescinded the emergency use authorization for PCR as a COVID-19 test on December 31, 2021.

Even George W. Bush admitted a few years after 9/11 that 1) Saddam Hussein never had weapons of mass destruction and 2) Iraq had nothing to do with 9/11.

But the U.S. invaded Iraq anyway because Saddam Hussein started trading his oil in euros instead of U.S. dollars in the late 1990s. The powers-that-be are both very predictable and very sloppy. They rely on mass gullibility and obedience to pull off their agendas. But if you wait long enough, they'll slip up and tell you the truth.

Don't expect full truth being announced by global governments regarding the vaccine genocide anytime soon. The truth, however, is revealing itself with the hundreds and maybe thousands of daily sudden and unexpected deaths of young people in 2022. It's all very simple - believe what you see with your own eyes, or believe what you're told. It's your choice.

Stay vigilant and protect your friends and loved ones.
