Oct. 13, 2023 at 3:30am (above video) - Firefighter Terra White’s partner collapsed at the wheel while driving an ambulance and almost went off a cliff.

Akron firefighter stops ambulance from going over cliff after partner suffers medical emergency

Akron firefighter Terra White had just seconds to save both she and her partner's life.

AKRON, Ohio — Being a firefighter is what Terra White has known for the past 18 and a half years.

"We go on runs every day and do things and you don't even think about it. And then, you know, years and years and years and there might be that one call that, that makes you think about it for a long time," Terra, an Akron firefighter, told us.

That "one call," for Terra, happened on October 13 at around 3:30 a.m., after she and her partner dropped off a patient at Summa Health.

"We normally would turn left onto Arch Street and then right on Forge and come back to Market to the station," Terra said. "I noticed that we were going, like, one-mile an hour and we were kind of just drifting to the right and I looked over into the driver's seat and I saw that my partner was slumped over."

Terra's partner, who did not want to be named in this story, was having a medical emergency. She asked him if he was OK, before things took a terrifying turn.

"And at that, like, exact second, he kind of put his foot on the gas and we took off down the road," Terra said.

The ambulance knocked down a telephone pole and some wires before careening down Arch Street toward a 50-foot drop. Terra had only seconds to jump into action.

"So once we started going really fast and I was like trying to steer, like, 'Oh my gosh, I have to stop,'" Terra said. "I kind of got over here and I ended up sitting in on his lap and the steering wheel was right here. I'm trying to move his leg from the gas and trying to put my foot down and onto the break. And when we got stopped, I put it in park and shut it off."

Terra had stopped the ambulance mere inches from the 50-foot embankment. Tire marks were still visible on the grass a week after it happened. The ordeal has been difficult to process.

"I come to work every day prepared to help other people with their things and it's already happened, whatever it is. And to come to work, and have to go through that myself," she said.

In this article I present 26 such recent collapses behind the wheel due to a “medical emergency” suffered by the driver and how these stories ended:

Nov. 15, 2023 – Ohio – 38 year old USPS mail Truck driver Andrew Donisi had a medical emergency while driving and crashed his vehicle into a utility pole.

COLERAIN TOWNSHIP, Ohio — A 38-year-old man is dead after he had a medical emergency while driving and crashed his vehicle into a utility pole Monday, Colerain Township police said.

Police said crews responded to a crash in the 2900 block of West Galbraith Road just before 10:45 a.m. Monday.

There, they extricated Andrew Donisi from his USPS mail truck and transported him to Mercy West Hospital, police said. Donisi died at the hospital.

After investigation, police determined Donisi suffered a medical emergency prior to crashing his vehicle.

Chicago, 15th November, 2023

I'm saddened to share the news that my dear Jaybird passed away unexpectedly Friday, November 10th. He was playing pickleball, walked to the car, opened the door, and collapsed. The doctor explained he lost consciousness and had a heart attack, sparing him from pain.

Though we are devastated, I find solace knowing Jay is now in heaven. I feel blessed for the 26 wonderful years we shared, filled with joy and love. Family and friends were everything to my Man - he was deeply loved by many.

What am I gonna do without My Tony? He passed away about 7:45 am this morning. It was a medical episode while driving. He didn't hit anything, he simply pulled over and passed away. They are pretty sure it was a heart attack. He was my BEST friend, my confidant, my love, my husband. I love him more than anything. My heart is broken into a million pieces. I can't do this without him. I want My Tony! Why?????????

Granbury, Texas

What the fuck am I gonna do now?

Gulfstream Academy K-9 principal, Hallandale Beach native, killed in car crash

HALLANDALE BEACH, FLA. (WSVN) - A Hallandale Beach school community is in mourning over the sudden death of their principal.

Carlton Campbell, a Broward County Public Schools administrator who worked in the district for more than three decades, has died, city and school district officials said Wednesday.

Campbell, 57, had a medical emergency while driving Wednesday and crashed, said his 27-year-old son, also named Carlton Campbell.

One of Campbell's brothers, Javen Campbell, said Campbell was driving to work at the time of the crash Wednesday morning. His family was not aware of any prior health issues, he said.

"He didn't have any previous issues with heart trouble or anything like that," he said. "That doesn't run in our family. So it has definitely taken our family by surprise."

The elder Campbell was a native of Hallandale Beach and a proud graduate of Hallandale High School, where he was later principal until 2004, city officials said. He then became principal of Pines Middle School before his most recent role as Gulfstream Academy of Hallandale Beach K-8 principal.

A Post Falls Police officer died Sunday night after a heart attack while on duty, police said in a statement.

Nicholas McDaniel, 36, was found slumped over in his patrol car after he failed to reply to a “status check.” Officers who responded started CPR until paramedics arrived, the Post Falls Police Department said in a Monday news release.

McDaniel was taken to Kootenai Medical Center where he was pronounced dead, the news release said.

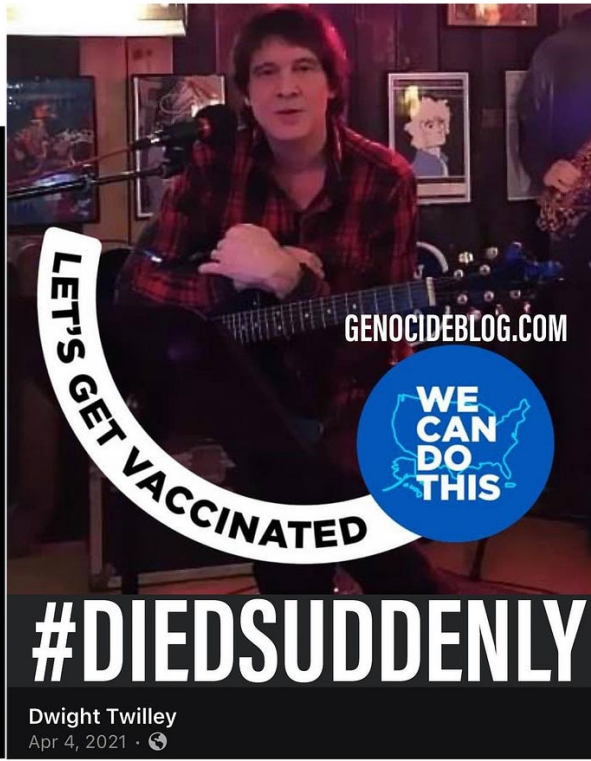

McDaniel worked in Post Falls for a little under a year after spending 13 years in Hawaii. Police are asking the community to keep his family in their thoughts, as he was engaged to be married and had children.

Post Falls Mayor Ron Jacobson wrote in a statement on McDaniel’s death, “We are proud of the time that Officer McDaniel gave serving our citizens and fellow colleagues at the City of Post Falls. There are no words that can make this loss easier to bear for Officer McDaniel’s family and colleagues. As a city, we mourn Officer McDaniel’s death deeply and our thoughts and prayers are with his family, friends, and colleagues.”

Tulsa, Oklahoma native and power pop legend, Dwight Allan Twilley, passed away on Wednesday, October 18, 2023. Dwight was driving alone in Tulsa when he suffered a massive stroke, lost control of his car and crashed into a tree. Dwight passed away due to a consequent cerebral/brain hemorrhage at St. John's in the Critical Care Unit with his wife, Jan Twilley, and a few close friends in attendance.

Dwight Twilley was born June 6, 1951 in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Along with fellow Beatles worshipper, Phil Seymour, he formed the band, Oister. The pair pioneered home recordings working with a Teac 4-track. Twilley's songwriting combined raw-edged '50s rock 'n roll and rockabilly with melodic '60s pop, plus his own distinctive quirkiness to yield "power pop." Oister was renamed The Dwight Twilley Band, and the duo, accompanied by their stalwart guitarist Bill Pitcock IV, were signed by Shelter Records (Leon Russell and Denny Cordell) in Tulsa.
