

Terror is the Scare of the Day: Are We in the Final Phase?

There is hardly a day that goes by without a terror attack somewhere in the world, emphasis on western world.

There were three successive UK terror attacks within less than three months, one in Manchester two in London, where all the 'terrorists' - who all yelled coincidentally Allahu Akbar (God is Great) while committing their heinous crimes - were killed. None was left alive for testimony.

Since then another one was carried out in front of a Mosque in northern London. Yesterday in a Brussels railway station someone exploded a bomb, and people heard him scream Allahu Akbar. Its terror non-stop. We better get used to it.

Terror is reigning in Africa every day, in Central Africa, the Congo, Burundi, Nigeria - you name it. The Islamic State is fighting in the Philippines. They are fighting a proxy war for Washington against the inconvenient President Duterte, who likes to ally with China and Russia. Geographically, economically and politically speaking, a logical choice. It's hardly reported by the media. And if reported, it's twisted and turned into barrage of lies. Terror is the scare of the day; and terror is a branch of the US military - it's a weaponized strategy to conquer the world by fear and as a consequence, by militarization. People ask for it, for protection.

Terror is fed, trained and armed by Washington and the Pentagon. The number of attacks are increasing by the day. We can only wonder, where will it strike tomorrow. The question, "when will it stop?" is not even an option. It will not stop. It's part of the war game.

On the other side of the equation, globalized Wall Street, the FED and international financial institutions are strangling poor countries with debt into submission, especially those with natural resources, like hydrocarbons tropical forests, gold and diamonds. All stained in blood. But finance does not stop there. It comes down to the individual, digitizing cash.

Making us a cashless society. It's good for you. No need for carrying money around. It's worthless anyway. Going digital, we can control you-and you are safe. The State will never steal your money. They could, but they won't. Ethics. It's called Ethics. And we trust them. In God We Trust - and god is money, to be precise - the US Dollar.

In the Middle East, a serious confrontation between the US and Russia is brewing, as Russia keeps believing in agreements signed with Washington, despite deceptions, time and again. The latest incident, supposedly fighting ISIS, a US F-18 fighter shot down a Syrian plane fighting ISIS. By accident, of course.

The Russian Defense Ministry did not mince its words, "In areas where Russian aviation is conducting combat missions in the Syrian skies, any flying objects, including jets and unmanned aerial vehicles of the international coalition discovered west of the Euphrates River will be followed by Russian air and ground defenses as air targets." In other words, they will be shot down. Is it that what the dark forces behind Washington want? - a deadly provocation?

Possibly. Because the US economy is based on war - and the European one is following closely in these bloody footsteps. We are living an economy of destruction, not one of construction, of a congenial livelihood, of solidarity among people and societies. Now our economy is also a tool of war - it impoverishes the masses and enriches the few. It divides the people, the countries, the continents - to conquer them. Those who control the economy are those who control the western monetary system, the fraudulent, privately made, owned usurping debt and interest machine; the dollar pyramid, upon which every other western currency depends. Those who control this unspeakable fraud, will eventually control a divided world. A world of man-made eternal chaos.

For the masters of war-and the would-be Masters of the Universe, it doesn't matter whether we all go under. They still think, 'The War', even nuclear - will be fought in far-away places - such as Europe and the Middle East. The May, Macron, Merkel puppets, who allow it, by having nurtured NATO for the last decade-plus, hope to be 'evacuated' to Miami, or the Caribbean, in time, when Europe burns - for the third time in 100 years.

Propaganda tells us be on your guard, the Russians are coming, and behind them the Chinese. We will protect you; we will militarize your countries, and we will make sure your money is safe, therefore it will be digitized. And every explosion that you see and hear about – it is not for you. It is taking place in foreign lands.

People, there is nothing left to hope for in the west. This could be it. The end-run. And you and me are in it, if we don't leave it NOW. We have for too long believed in the treachery of Washington, the false promises, the eternal lies for centuries drop-by-dripping-drop into our brains have drained our self-worth, our autonomy; and we have 'democratically' allowed that these Washington bandits and the criminal gang that directs them from behind, have stolen our nations sovereignty.

Are we doomed? The West is in its final stage of committing unrelenting suicide by sheer greed and monstrous aggressions and an eternal flood of lies.

The only hope for those of us who may survive, is the East. China, Russia and the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) offer an economy of peace. They offer the world, including the west, for those who are not afraid to break loose from the weakening fangs of Washington, an enormous economic and scientific development program – the New Silk Road, or OBOR – One Belt One Road, or OBI for short.

The One Belt Initiative – an economy of peace and prosperity offered to the world by China's President Xi. Wake up, People, wake up – and step out from the western warmongers orbit.
