What does president Obama have to do to get re-elected in 2012, and delay the total collapse of the global economic system that has been based on fiat money, black gold (oil), and an elite ponzi scheme that sucked the wealth out of every individual and nation?

Every American president sets the stage for the next one, in order to continue the work in progress that has been set for him by the global corporate elite. Mr. Obama has been a faithful serf to his money masters, and he played his cards carefully and correctly, therefore, he will deserve a second term.

However, living beyond our means by financing an empire that we can't afford through borrowing massive amounts of money from the global financial elite embodied in the private Federal Reserve, and accruing more and more debt can go so far before the empire of cards collapses on itself.

As a result, one final option is left for Mr. Obama to get himself re-elected. Like his predecessor, he must engage the United States in a new contrived low intensity conflict triggered by a false flag operation at home or abroad. Where else would be better to conduct this crusade than the Middle East where oil is plentiful and war is easier to sell to the American public, because the region has already been demonized through propaganda, and labeled as a perpetual crucible of conflict?

A conflict between neighbor who is only armed with a pocket knife and a wealthy neighbor who is armed with a tank, a plane, and a rifle shouldn't be classified as a war, but as an unequal, unfair incident with a known result, which will make the wealthy neighbor look like a bigger bully to the rest of the block. Subsequently and out of fear, looting of resources becomes an easier task as people would hand out their goods to stay alive.

Therefore, these so called Orwellian, perpetual wars like in Afghanistan, Iraq, Libya, Pakistan and other hot spots in the world are not actually wars, but low intensity contrived battles designed to distract Americans from real issues, commit a grand theft of other countries' resources, create jobs in the MIC, increase military and contractual spending, and slowly but steadily implement population reduction.

Every administration will continue to cater to the powerful military industrial complex that has been running Washington 's foreign policies for many years.

Therefore, we must devise bogus wars to create massive wealth for the few. “War makes billionaires.”

This “MIC” that had President Eisenhower, a military man himself warn us about it in his farewell address to the nation. Eisenhower commented that “In the councils of government, we must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist. We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. Only an alert and knowledgeable citizenry can compel the proper meshing of the huge industrial and military machinery of defense with our peaceful methods and goals, so that security and liberty may prosper together. “[1].

Recent indicators of coming conflict: Once again, destination Iran .

Machiavelli 101: Give a dog a bad name before you kill him! The examples of this policy are plentiful. Saddam Hussein, Muammar Quaddafi, Bashar El Assad, Mahmoud Ahmadienijad, and the list could go on and on.

Some of these dogs have already being killed, while others await the same destiny. Ironically, like the late Saddam Hussein, and Qaddafi of Libya, Iran’s President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad has committed the same deadly mistake when has ordered in 2009 the replacement of the US dollar by the euro in calculating the value of the country’s Oil Stabilisation Fund (OSF). [5].

The United States’ refusal to dialogue with Iran, the failures of the color revolution, austere sanctions, and covert operations in that country that were financed by the Bush administration as congress agreed in June 2009 to fund a major escalation of these covert missions [7], have left nothing on the table except for “war,” in order to complete the Oded Yinon vision/plan for the new Middle East. (Oded Yinon is a former official in the Israeli ministry of Foreign affairs who concluded in his memo in February 1982 that Israel long term priority is thus to encourage all the factors of disintegration in the Arab States, with dismantlement leading to creation of ethnically or religiously homogeneous provinces. Sure enough, the plans of the past are continuing to unravel in the present).

On October 28, 2011, the Washington post newspaper, a CIA-mouth piece reported that U.S. officials accused elements of the Iranian government of plotting to assassinate the Saudi ambassador to Washington , allegations that aggravated the tense relationship between the United States and the Islamic Republic. The Justice Department unsealed charges against two Iranians — one of them a U.S. citizen — accusing them of orchestrating an elaborate murder-for-hire plot that targeted Adel al-Jubeir, the Saudi envoy to Washington and a key adviser to King Abdullah. The Iranians planned to employ Mexican drug traffickers to kill Jubeir with a bomb as he ate at a restaurant, U.S. officials said. [6].

On November 6, 2011 US Assistant Secretary for Political-Military Affairs Andrew Shapiro stated that the US and the Israeli regime are set to hold their ‘largest and most significant’ joint military maneuvers without offering details about the time and location of the war games. More than 5,000 US and Israeli forces will take part in the war drills, said Shapiro, in a Saturday speech at the Israeli-sponsored think tank, the Washington Institute for Near East Policy (WINEP). He reportedly did not mention a specific time and location for what observers have described as part of the new US-led publicity campaign aimed at raising the threat level against Iran . [2].

Ironically, Mr. Daniel Shapiro stated on September 14, 2011 that support for Israel drives all US policies. He also added that while many Americans may believe that US policies are designed to address American needs, America 's new Ambassador to Israel explained that this is far from the case [3].

On November 13, 2011, Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said that the full extent of Iran 's nuclear program was not reflected in a recent U.N. report, which said that Tehran appeared to have worked on designing an atomic bomb." Iran " is closer to getting an (atomic) bomb than is thought," Netanyahu said in remarks to cabinet ministers, quoted by an official from his office. (Netanyahu is the man whom president Sarkozy has recently called a "liar" while talking to president Obama in a recent conference allegedly not realizing that his microphone was turned on). Meanwhile, Mr. Obama escalated his tough rhetoric against Iran .

At the same time, Arab League acting as a US proxy led by Saudi Arabia continues to send rebuking messages to the Assad of Syria to step down and to stop the killing of alleged pro-democracy demonstrators by Syrian forces. [4]. Syria is a partner with Iran and an insignificant threat to Israel, however, a regime change that will lead to a division of that country must take place as part of the balkanization process of the region where new and small ethnic warring nations are established.

Finally, I hope that Mr. Obama will fulfill his global masters' goals, and will attack Iran or will authorize Israel to do his bidding, because the public can no longer take the suspense, the lies, and the propaganda.

As a result, we will all praise and vote for Mr. Obama as our hero and commander who defeated the evil nation of Iran with minimal human cost. Of course and as usual, tax payers will pay for these wars through additional quantitative easing, inflation as indirect taxation, and more accrued national debt.

Once again, we will be praised and reinforced by our politicians as a nation of warriors where power and killing are rooted in our Viking-Anglo-Saxon heritage. Then, we will all stand and shout in one voice under God "one more term," "hail to the chief," "Hail to the military," "Hail to the intelligence," and "Hail to the American power," and until the next election!
