Stop the Stop is organising protests outside the Iraq Inquiry on 21 January when Tony Blair gives evidence for the second time.

Anti-war activists will re-enact scenes from the build-up to war, including the secret deals between Bush and Blair and the taming of the Attorney General. They will be joined by Iraqi exile Sami Ramadani, actor Roger Lloyd Pack, Jeremy Corbyn MP, Bruce Kent from CND, broadcaster Michael Rosen, Peter Brierley and Rose Gentle who lost their sons in Iraq and many others.

Chilcot has the evidence. He knows Blair conspired with George Bush to take Britain into an illegal war. It's time for Blair's “journey” to end with him held to account for war crimes. Join the protest if you can.

Father of soldier killed in Iraq says Tony Blair is a war criminal

Reg Keys famously stood against Tony Blair in the 2005 general election, in his campaign to get justice for his son Tom, who was killed in Iraq.

In this BBC interview, he says the Iraq war was an act of international terrorism and Blair is a war criminal, responsible for the death of his son, 178 other British soldiers and hundreds of thousands of Iraqis.
