

The Top Ten Creepiest and Most Dystopian Things Pushed by the World Economic Forum (WEF)

By Vigilant Citizen

Global Research, October 17, 2022

The Vigilant Citizen 1 June 2022

Theme: Intelligence

All Global Research articles can be read in 51 languages by activating the “Translate Website” drop down menu on the top banner of our home page (Desktop version).

To receive Global Research’s Daily Newsletter (selected articles), click here.

Visit and follow us on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

First published on June 6. 2022

The World Economic Forum (WEF) is one of the most powerful organizations in the world. And, throughout the years, people at the WEF have said some truly insane and dystopian things. And they’ve managed to word these things in the creepiest ways possible. Here are the top 10 most insane things said by the WEF.

When one talks about the “global elite”, one usually refers to a small group of wealthy and powerful individuals who operate beyond national borders. Through various organizations, these non-elected individuals gather in semi-secrecy to decide policies they want to see applied on a global level.

The World Economic Forum (WEF) is smack dab in the middle of it all. Indeed, through its annual Davos meetings, the WEF attempts to legitimize and normalize its influence on the world’s democratic nations by having a panel of world leaders attending and speaking at the event.

A simple look at the list of attendees at these meetings reveals the organization’s incredible reach and influence. The biggest names in media, politics, business, science, technology, and finance are represented at the WEF.

Mark McCombe	Senior Managing Director; Chief Client Officer	BlackRock Inc.	USA
Debra McCoy	Partner, Sustainability and Responsibility	Bain & Company Inc.	USA
Sam McCracken	Founder and General Manager, N7	Nike Inc.	USA
Jeffrey McDermott	Global Co-Head, Investment Banking	Nomura Securities International, Inc.	USA
Adrian McDonald	President, Enterprise, Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA)	Dell Technologies	USA
William McDonough	Adjunct Professor, Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Stanford University, USA
Anne McElvoy	Executive Editor	The Economist	United Kingdom
Robert McGinnis	Chief Executive Officer and Founder	Prometheus Fuels Inc	USA
Devin McGranahan	Chief Executive Officer	The Western Union Company	USA
Greg McIntosh	Executive Vice-President; Chief Commercial Officer	Iron Mountain Information Management LLC	Canada
Michael E. McKelvy	President and Chief Executive Officer	McDermott International, Ltd	USA
Tjada McKenna	Chief Executive Officer, Mercy Corps, USA
Alan McKinnon	Professor of Logistics	Kühne Logistics University	Germany
Matthew McKnight	General Manager, Biosecurity	Ginkgo Bioworks	USA
Walter R. Mead	Columnist	Dow Jones & Company Inc.	USA
William L. Meaney	President and Chief Executive Officer	Iron Mountain Information Management LLC	USA

Page 34 (out of 58) of the list of attendees at the 2022 Davos meeting. Big names, big companies, big influence.

According to mass media, the Davos meetings gather people to discuss issues such as “inequality, climate change, and international cooperation”. This simplistic description appears to be custom-made to cause the average citizen to yawn in boredom. But topics at the WEF go much further than “inequality”.

Throughout the years, people at the WEF have said some highly disturbing things, none of which garnered proper media attention. In fact, when one pieces together the topics championed by the WEF, an overarching theme emerges: The total control of humanity using media, science, and technology while reshaping democracies to form a global government.

If this sounds like a far-fetched conspiracy theory, keep reading. Here are the 10 most dystopian things that are being pushed by the WEF right now. This list sorted is in no particular order. Because they’re all equally crazy.

#10 Penetrating Governments

The least one can say is that Klaus Schwab, the founder and the head of the WEF is not a fan of democracy. In fact, he perceives it as an obstacle to a fully globalized world.

In the 2010 WEF report titled “Global Redesign”, Schwab postulates that a globalized world is best managed by a “self-selected coalition of multinational corporations, governments (including through the UN system), and select civil society organizations (CSOs)”. This is the exact opposite of a democracy.

He argued that governments are no longer “the overwhelmingly dominant actors on the world stage” and that “the time has come for a new stakeholder paradigm of international governance”. For this reason, the Transnational Institute \(TNI\) described the WEF as “a silent global coup d’état” to capture governance.

In 2017, at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government, Schwab blatantly admitted what is continually dismissed as a "conspiracy theory" by mass media: The WEF is "penetrating" governments around the world.

Head of the World Economic Forum Klaus Schwab at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government in 2017:

"What we are very proud of, is that we penetrate the global cabinets of countries with our WEF Young Global Leaders... like Trudeau" pic.twitter.com/D6odR5mq16

— Maajid أبو عمّار (@MaajidNawaz) January 25, 2022

Schwab said:

"I have to say, when I mention now names, like Mrs. (Angela) Merkel and even Vladimir Putin, and so on, they all have been Young Global Leaders of the World Economic Forum. But what we are very proud of now is the young generation, like Prime Minister [Justin] Trudeau, the President of Argentina and so on.

We penetrate the cabinets. So yesterday I was at a reception for Prime Minister Trudeau and I know that half of his cabinet, or even more than half of his cabinet, are actually Young Global Leaders of the World Economic Forum. (...) It's true in Argentina and it's true in France, with the President - a Young Global Leader."

In this outstanding talk, Schwab blatantly stated that Angela Merkel of Germany, Vladimir Putin of Russia, Justin Trudeau of Canada, and Emmanuel Macron of France were "groomed" by the WEF. He even adds that at least half of Canada's cabinet consists of representatives sold to the WEF's agenda. This is not a conspiracy theory. This is the absolute truth, confirmed by the head of the WEF himself.

#9 Controlling Minds Using Sound Waves

In 2018, one of the topics of discussion at the WEF was "Mind Control Using Sound Waves" (read my full article about it here). I did not alter this title for sensationalism, those are exactly the words used by the WEF.

Agenda

Initiatives

Reports

Events

About

English ▾

TopLink

Global Agenda | Neuroscience | Future of Health and Healthcare

Mind control using sound waves? We ask a scientist how it works

This is the title of an actual article published on the WEF's official website. It was deleted for obscure reasons, but it is still viewable in web archives.

In the article, the technology is touted as a possible treatment for Parkinson's and Alzheimer's disease. However, the article also states that "it can cure you, it can get you addicted, and it can kill you". It can also be used to completely control a person's mind, remotely. The article states:

“I can see the day coming where a scientist will be able to control what a person sees in their mind’s eye, by sending the right waves to the right place in their brain. My guess is that most objections will be similar to those we hear today about subliminal messages in advertisements, only much more vehement.

This technology is not without its risks of misuse. It could be a revolutionary healthcare technology for the sick, or a perfect controlling tool with which the ruthless control the weak. This time though, the control would be literal.”

The conclusion of the article: Nobody can stop scientists from developing this technology. To prevent misuse, it should be regulated by organizations such as ... the WEF. That’s convenient because some companies developing this technology are part of the WEF. Do you see where this is going?

#8 Pills That Contain Microchips

Once again, this title sounds like a far-fetched conspiracy theory cleverly worded for sensationalism. It is not. Here’s a video from the WEF’s 2018 meeting where Albert Bourla, the CEO of Pfizer, talks about pills that contain microchips.

Bourla says:

“FDA approved the first ‘electronic pill’, if I can call it like that. It is basically a biological chip that is in the tablet and, once you take the tablet, and it dissolves into your stomach, it sends a signal that you took the tablet. So imagine the applications of that, the compliance. The insurance companies would know that the medicines that patients should take, they do take them. It is fascinating what happens in this field.”

Is this field truly fascinating? Or utterly dystopian? As Bourla himself said: Imagine the compliance. This kind of technology could easily open the door to all kinds of nefarious applications. Since then, COVID put Pfizer in a position of power never seen before for a pharmaceutical company.

Like Pfizer, the WEF is also using COVID to further its agenda.

#7 Praising Massive Lockdowns

In 2020 and 2021, cities around the world were subjected to massive and drastic lockdowns, causing job losses, suicides, drug overdoses, isolation, mental health issues, domestic abuse, bankruptcies, and homelessness. During this horrific period, children could not attend school for months and were essentially barred from interacting with other children. A slew of small and medium businesses was destroyed while large corporations thrived.

Despite all of this, the WEF could not hide its love of drastic, life-destroying lockdowns. In fact, it released a video surrealistically called “Lockdowns are quietly improving cities around the world”. Here’s this piece of complete insanity.

The video states “Lockdowns significantly reduced human activity ... leading to Earth’s quietest period in decades,” while showing dystopian images of empty cities and planes stuck on the ground.

Completely ignoring the immense human suffering caused by these lockdowns, the WEF considered it was all worth it because “carbon emissions were down 7% in 2020”.

When this thing was first posted, it garnered intense backlash. So the WEF deleted the video above and posted this tweet.

World Economic Forum
@wef

We’re deleting this tweet. Lockdowns aren’t “quietly improving cities” around the world. But they are an important part of the public health response to COVID-19.

As you can see, despite deleting the video, the WEF kept praising lockdowns. That’s because the WEF would love to see “covidian” life become permanent.

#6 “Take a Peek at the Future”

Judging by comments on YouTube and social media, people absolutely hate videos created by the WEF. But they keep coming. Because they don’t care what you think. They just want to plant their seed of insanity into your mind. In a video titled “How our lives could soon look” (read my full article about it here), the WEF invites viewers to “take a peek at the future”. And it is BLEAK. It is all about making COVID life permanent.

This is how our lives could soon look.

Take a peak at the future: <https://t.co/IOlgPc95VB> pic.twitter.com/sR7I66C95C

— World Economic Forum (@wef) August 17, 2021

The video is filled with masked people, purell dispensers, and QR codes. This is the future they want. Then, there’s this nugget of insanity.

No. Go away.

The video proudly says:

“NASA has invented a system that can ID you from your heartbeat using a laser.”

As if that wasn't enough, the video shows children stuck at home and being schooled through screens. The video ends by showing people wearing masks outside, like crazy people.

#5 Pushing For a Great Reset

As stated above, the WEF perceives the pandemic as an “opportunity”. It is not only an opportunity to reshape our personal existence but to restructure the entire world structure according to its principles. The WEF calls it “the Great Reset”. To promote this Reset (that absolutely nobody wants) the WEF released a propaganda video (it really fits the definition of “propaganda”). Here it is in all of its insanity.

When I posted an article about this video in 2021, the comments were not yet turned off. And I took a screenshot of the top ones.

Kyle L 6 days ago

This feels like the most overt propaganda I've seen in my lifetime.

👍 172 🗨️ REPLY

▼ View 4 replies

Cecilia Barraza 2 days ago

"So many are calling for a great reset"? No. The ELITE is calling for it...

👍 180 🗨️ REPLY

▼ View 4 replies

Jen Dredge 2 days ago (edited)

This is terrifying. No one wants a reset, or your version of a better world.

👍 139 🗨️ REPLY

▼ View 8 replies

Guy Fawkes 6 days ago

No, no, no. We don't want this. No one voted for this.

The voting ratio on this video proves the point.

👍 1.4K 🗨️ REPLY

▼ View 46 replies

Ryan gst 4 days ago

Subliminal messages at its finest

Wake up people these crooks aren't hiding any more.

👍 254 🗨️ REPLY

▼ View 2 replies

This short video manages to contain an incredible amount of subversive messages. It even ridiculizes "conspiracy theories" while, astoundingly, confirming these theories.

The video also announced the "death of capitalism".

While capitalism is based on a self-regulating system of offer and demand, the Great Reset looks to redefine the way businesses are evaluated through new parameters. The main one: Compliance with the elite's social and political agendas.

Towards the end, the narrator utters this enigmatic sentence:

"And that's all about getting the right people in the right place at the right time".

While the video doesn't quite explain what this sentence actually means in real-life situations, its implications are rather chilling. Instead of allowing successful individuals and businesses to grow organically, the elite's system would interfere to "get the right people at the right place at the right time", in accordance with its agenda. In other words, the system would be rigged and compliance with a wider agenda would be mandatory in a new economy.

The video ends with a call to viewers to get involved. However, of course, you're not actually invited to the WEF. In fact, they're actually looking to "recalibrate" your freedom of speech.

#4 "Recalibrating" freedom of speech

An easy way to identify world leaders who are groomed by the WEF is through their incessant railing against free speech. They absolutely hate it and they're constantly calling for the internet to be censored and highly regulated. At the 2022 Davos meeting, Australian "eSafety commissioner" Julie Inman Grant stated that we need a "recalibration of free speech".

Australian eSafety commissioner Julie Inman Grant tells the World Economic Forum we need a "recalibration" of freedom of speech.
pic.twitter.com/zEq72wFhNf

— Andrew Lawton (@AndrewLawton) May 23, 2022

Grant said:

"We are finding ourselves in a place where we have increasing polarization everywhere and everything feels binary when it doesn't need to be. So I think we're going to have to think about a recalibration of a whole range of human rights that are playing out online. You know, from freedom of speech to the freedom to be free from online violence."

Here, Grant essentially calls for censorship. She even believes that freedom of speech as a human right should be "recalibrated" using "online violence" as an excuse. There is no such thing as "online violence". They love to equate speech with violence. It is an extremely manipulative way of justifying China-style censorship.

Free speech is, in fact, binary. Either it exists or it doesn't. And they clearly don't want it to exist.

#3 Tracking Your Clothes

The WEF wants to control your clothes. And they've made a video about it. Did I mention that people absolutely hate WEF videos? Here's another one that got people's blood boiling.

Using the environment as an excuse (as usual), the WEF announced the coming of clothing laced with "digital passports" that can be traced at all times. Backed by Microsoft (of course), these garments will apparently flood the market by 2025.

According to the WEF, these chips will allow fashion brands to resell their clothes. I have no idea how that would work. The video makes sure NOT to mention that this technology would be a great way of tracking those who ditched their smartphones.

But ditching your smartphone might become ... impossible.

#2 “Smartphones will be in your body by 2030”

At the 2022 Davos meeting, Nokia CEO Pekka Lundmark claimed that, by 2030, “smartphones will be implanted directly into the body.” This would coincide with the coming of 6G technology, which is expected to be launched by the end of the decade.

For years, this site has been documenting the elite’s incessant push for transhumanism, which is the merging of humans with machines. They’re looking to accelerate this transition by making things people cannot live without (such as smartphones) available in transhumanist form.

Are you noticing their creepy eagerness to insert things inside our bodies?

#1 “You’ll Own Nothing. And You’ll Be Happy.”

This is probably the most dystopian moment in WEF history. In 2016, Ida Auken, a Member of Parliament in Denmark said:

“Welcome to 2030. I own nothing, have no privacy, and life has never been better”.

The WEF loved that quote so much that it tweeted about it.

Welcome to 2030. I own nothing, have no privacy, and life has never been better @IdaAuken wef.ch/2fcbywE

2:33 AM · Nov 22, 2016

The WEF also created a video (that everybody absolutely hated) titled “8 Predictions for the World in 2030”. Here’s a screenshot.

An article on the WEF's website explains:

"I don't own anything. I don't own a car. I don't own a house. I don't own any appliances or any clothes," writes Danish MP Ida Auken. Shopping is a distant memory in the city of 2030, whose inhabitants have cracked clean energy and borrow what they need on demand. It sounds utopian, until she mentions that her every move is tracked and outside the city live swathes of discontents, the ultimate vision of a society split in two.

In this dystopian future, there are no products you can own. Only "services" that are rented and delivered using drones. This system would make all humans completely dependent on WEF-controlled corporations for every single basic need. There would be absolutely no autonomy, no freedom, and no privacy. And you'll be happy.

Honorable Mention: Individual carbon footprint tracker

At the 2022 Davos meeting, Alibaba Group president J. Michael Evans announced the development of an "individual carbon tracker".

Alibaba Group president J. Michael Evans boasts at the World Economic Forum about the development of an "individual carbon footprint tracker" to monitor what you buy, what you eat, and where/how you travel.
pic.twitter.com/sisSrUngDI

— Andrew Lawton (@AndrewLawton) May 24, 2022

Once again, the WEF uses the environment to promote the micro-management of human behavior. Evans says that the tracker can monitor "where they're traveling, how they're traveling, what are they're eating and what are they consuming on the platform".

Notice that he used the pronoun "they" and not "we" because there is no way in hell he's going to use that thing. Me neither.

In Conclusion

Upon reviewing this list, two common themes become obvious. The first theme is "penetration". The WEF wants to penetrate governments using "Global Leaders" (aka Manchurian candidates). It also wants to penetrate our bodies through pills, microchips, and vaccines. It also wants to penetrate our minds using soundwaves, censorship, and propaganda.

The other theme is "control". They want to control what we think, where we go, what we say, what we eat, and what we wear.

Do you know who agrees with the WEF? China. Censorship is widespread, a social credit system controls people's behaviors and COVID is still used as an excuse for massive lockdowns and total population control. Not to mention the literal concentration camps. Despite all of this, Chinese officials are constantly present at WEF meetings. Why? Because China is basically a laboratory for the WEF's policies.

With all of that being said, how can we counteract the WEF's insanity? How can we vote them out if they were never voted in? A first step would be to elect - at all levels of government – representatives that want nothing to do with the WEF. If our elected officials treated the WEF as the rogue, illegitimate organization that it is, its influence would be greatly reduced.

Second, we can boycott every company that is part of the WEF. I realize this is easier said than done because many of these companies are virtual monopolies. However, if we stop giving them our money, they'll stop using our money to poison our lives.

Then, they'll own nothing. And we'll all be happy.

*

Note to readers: Please click the share buttons above or below. Follow us on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. Feel free to repost and share widely Global Research articles.

The original source of this article is The Vigilant Citizen
Copyright © Vigilant Citizen, The Vigilant Citizen, 2022

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Vigilant Citizen

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca