

Trump Debunks Notion of Russia Interfering in America's Electoral Process

By Stephen Lendman

Global Research, December 09, 2016

Region: Russia and FSU, USA

Theme: Intelligence, Media Disinformation

In-depth Report: U.S. Elections

Claiming it is utter nonsense. Not a shred of evidence suggests it. Irresponsibly blaming Moscow for hacking DNC emails or any other type interference in America's electoral process reflects longstanding Russia bashing.

In response to being named Time magazine's person of the year, Trump told the publication that accusing Russia is politically motivated. "I don't believe it. I don't believe they interfered," he said, adding:

I believe that it could have been...any one of many other people...It could have been some guy in his home in New Jersey.

DHS, DNI and Hillary's claims weren't supported by evidence because none exists. Accusations without proof are baseless. Legitimate tribunals would dismiss cases without it.

DHS and DNI claiming Russia tried influencing America's presidential election outcome was hokum. Utter rubbish! Shameless Big Lies. Responsible parties knew it all along. Media scoundrels promoted what they should have condemned.

Russia is a convenient punching bag, vilified for its sovereign independence and Putin's anti-imperial, anti-war, multi-world polarity agenda.

Ranking House Intelligence Committee Democrat member Adam Schiff shamefully criticized Trump for "contradict(ing) our intelligence professional and carry(ing) water for the Kremlin."

Republican House Homeland Security chairman Michael McCaul, a member of Trump's national security team, lied about nonexistent Russian cyberattacks, nonsensically claiming interference with America's electoral process, saying:

Its (nonexistent) "hacks and attacks should be a wake-up call and a call to action. There needs to be consequences to these actions. On the international stage, if we don't respond and show them that there are consequences, the bad behavior will continue."

Obama indicated a "proportional" response was coming. Nothing so far. Hopefully Trump will extend outreach to Putin, following through on saying both countries should cooperate in combating terrorism and find ways to get along.

McCaul is part of Washington's neocon infestation, rabidly anti-Russia. "We can't allow foreign governments to interfere in our democracy, and when they do so we must call them out on it and respond forcefully, publicly, and decisively," he ranted.

The United States should respond to cyber attacks in a way that will make our adversaries think twice before they do it again.

His committee plans introducing what he calls "serious (cybersecurity) reform," without further elaboration on what he intends.

Russia bashing won't end once Trump succeeds Obama. Hopefully he'll go the other way and seek normalized ties - in the interest of world peace and stability.

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net.

His new book as editor and contributor is titled "Flashpoint in Ukraine: How the US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III."

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html>

Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com.

Listen to cutting-edge discussions with distinguished guests on the Progressive Radio News Hour on the Progressive Radio Network.

The original source of this article is Global Research
Copyright © Stephen Lendman, Global Research, 2016

Comment on Global Research Articles on our Facebook page

Become a Member of Global Research

Articles by: Stephen Lendman

About the author:

Stephen Lendman lives in Chicago. He can be reached at lendmanstephen@sbcglobal.net. His new book as editor and contributor is titled "Flashpoint in Ukraine: US Drive for Hegemony Risks WW III."

<http://www.claritypress.com/LendmanIII.html> Visit his blog site at sjlendman.blogspot.com. Listen to cutting-edge discussions with distinguished guests on the Progressive Radio News Hour on the Progressive Radio Network. It airs three times weekly: live on Sundays at 1PM Central time plus two prerecorded archived programs.

Disclaimer: The contents of this article are of sole responsibility of the author(s). The Centre for Research on Globalization will not be responsible for any inaccurate or incorrect statement in this article. The Centre of Research on Globalization grants permission to cross-post Global Research articles on community internet sites as long the source and copyright are acknowledged together with a hyperlink to the original Global Research article. For publication of Global Research articles in print or other forms including commercial internet sites, contact: publications@globalresearch.ca www.globalresearch.ca contains copyrighted material the use of which has not always been specifically authorized by the copyright owner. We are making such material available to our readers under the provisions of "fair use" in an effort to advance a better understanding of political, economic and social issues. The material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving it for research and educational purposes. If you wish to use copyrighted material for purposes other than "fair use" you must request permission from the copyright owner.

For media inquiries: publications@globalresearch.ca