While philanthropy is considered noble, some philanthropists appear to be doing far more harm than good with their donated millions. Bill Gates, who cofounded Microsoft in 1975, is perhaps one of the most dangerous philanthropists in modern history, having poured billions of dollars into global health initiatives that stand on shaky scientific and moral ground.

Gates' answers to the problems of the world are consistently focused on building corporate profits through chemical agriculture and GMOs, or pharmaceutical drugs and vaccines.
