In today's video, I spoke with James Corbett, about Blackrock, Vanguard, State Street, Financial Giants & The Oligopoly.

The "big three" asset management corporations own shares in almost every major US company in each industry, making them the top institutional shareholders for these giant corporations. The list is endless... They are also the top shareholders in each other, raising serious questions about competition, consolidation, monopolisation and influence, including in government.

We also discuss the general trend of consolidation.

Feel free to use Yahoo Finance, type in a company and go to holders to see the top shareholders.
