“As a scientist, what I decided to do was to look at all-cause mortality data.

Our nations collect very good data about the number of deaths. That is something you cannot be biased about.

My research group, we were the first to say, back in an article that was published in June 2020, that when we look at all-cause mortality data, there is no pandemic.

There was a peak of deaths at the beginning in certain hotspots that was directly due to how people were treated in hospitals and care homes.”

Listen to Prof. Rancourt in the video below.

The outstanding analysis of Dr. Rancourt and his colleagues is outlined in their online e-Book:
