One week ago, Global Research launched an awareness-raising initiative by challenging our readers to help us grow our mailing list.

The response has been excellent — after one week we have increased our newsletter mailing list by 662 new subscribers, bringing our total to 26,421 recipients!

This is a very good start to the campaign and we welcome our new subscribers and hope you will enjoy all the benefits of this free service. We also thank all of our readers who have helped to spread the word to friends and colleagues and encourage them to sign up. 662 more people have shown their commitment to breaking through the lies of mainstream media.

Let's keep the momentum going!

Besides forwarding articles such as these to help people engage critically with the issues of our times, there are many other tools at our disposal to help increase awareness, which don't cost a thing!

Remember: *Information is free; awareness is priceless!

For example, did you know that Global Research has an official page on Facebook with regular updates on our top articles, videos and breaking news? Visit our page and click the "Like" button on top. Soon you'll see posts from Global Research appear directly in your news feed! That way whenever you see a news item that you feel is important, you can simply click the "Share" button to let your friends know that the truth is circulating despite the efforts of corporate media to push their agendas!

On this page you can also click the "Join My List" tab on the left panel to easily subscribe to our mailing list. Let your friends know!

Global Research also has a group on Facebook which you can join along with others who see the importance of access to independent journalism and analysis.

We know that social media is a powerful tool and we have certainly seen ample evidence of its impacts (consider its effects on the Arab Uprisings earlier this year). When people connect with each other and engage in critical debates and discussion, we become much stronger at dispelling the lies and myths of profit-driven corporate media.

We have the means to reach people around the world – let’s use them!

A reminder: Global Research feature article sendouts cover a broad range of topics, from the start to murderous end of NATO’s assault on Libya, to the long list of mainstream media disinformation campaigns in hot zones around the world.

Thanks to feedback on our readers’ preferences, we also occasionally send selected article lists on hot topics (covering themes such as “Occupy Wall Street”), notices about important upcoming events, special sneak previews into books published through Global Research, and reports on our activities and how our readers can support our endeavours to break through corporate media lies.

Help Global Research achieve our goal of increasing our newsletter subscriber list by 10,000!

If you appreciate the information you receive from Global Research and believe that others would benefit from reading independent news untainted by corporate agendas, then help us spread the word!

Start by forwarding this e-mail to three or four friends and let them know that there are alternatives to mainstream media.

Discuss world events with your friends, family and colleagues and tell them you know where to go for the real news, and that they can also have free access to this critical information.

Add us on Facebook and encourage others to participate.

Show that you refuse to be deceived about the state of the world we live in!

Taking this initiative doesn’t cost you anything; the benefit, however, is that more people will become exposed to real, independent news, leading to greater awareness of the sociopolitical processes shaping our world, and thereby strengthening the fight against media lies and disinformation. It’s simple, quick and more necessary now than ever before.

We remind you that we never share our mailing list with third parties – what you sign up for is the Global Research newsletter, and that’s all! And every newsletter has a Safe Unsubscribe link that you can click anytime to remove your address from our list, though we hope you will find it a valuable resource and choose to stay informed!

Help us reach our goal of 10,000 new subscribers by the end of this year! Give 10,000 people the gift of information!
